

Reynolds Favors State Corporation To Acquire Lands

Includes Bonding Power as Part of Recreation Program

MADISON (AP)—Formation of a corporation with bond issuing authority to speed up land purchases in the state's $50 million recreation program was recommended to the Legislature today by Gov. John W. Reynolds.

In addition to this and other measures to expand the recreational program and the tourist industry, Reynolds recommended action in three other resource areas:

Protection of land, lakes, streams and people against unwise uses and contamination of resources.

Participation in the federal area redevelopment and accelerated public works programs to ease unemployment in 22 counties.

Regional, local and state planning for the orderly growth of cities and restoration of blighted areas.

Cigarette Tax Funds

The speedup in land acquisition under the recreation program was Reynolds' answer to those who feel more money should be devoted to development of land already acquired.

He asked that the Conservation Commission form the corporation to issue bonds that would be repaid through revenue from the one cent additional cigarette tax enacted in 1956.

Through this device, the state could telescope the purchases now contemplated for the next eight years into four years, Reynolds said.

Interest paid on the bonds, he said, would likely be offset by the savings realized in lower land prices compared with what they will be eight years in the future.

The $50 million program is already devoting large sums to development purposes, Reynolds said, and objects to more purchases.

Mother of 2 Sets of Twins Gives Birth to Quads in Scotland

ABERDEEN, Scotland (AP)—Barbara Cummings, 27, gave birth today to quadruplets—three girls and a boy. She already has two sets of twins.

The babies were delivered after a caesarean operation at Aberdeen Royal Infirmary. Hospital authorities said the mother and children were getting along satisfactorily. They have not been named yet.

The father is Robert Cummings, 28, a carpenter. The twins are Heather and Dora, 6, and Carol and Grace, 3.

The babies arrived five weeks ahead of schedule. They are in incubators.

Stoughton Approved For Project of AEC

WASHINGTON (AP)—A technical committee has endorsed the selection of Stoughton, Wis., as the site for an Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) atom smasher project expected to cost between 120 and 130 million dollars.

The report by a presidential scientific advisory committee has been filed with Jerome Wiesner, scientific advisor to President Kennedy. The committee was headed by Prof. Norman Ramsey of Harvard University.

The project is based on a proposal by the Midwestern Universities Research Association (MURA) of Madison, Wis. It would consist of an atomic device to be used for nuclear research into the behavior of atomic particles of great intensity. Construction would require about seven years.

Birmingham Topic at White House Session

WASHINGTON (AP)—Racial troubles in Birmingham, Ala., were a focal point of discussion today in the weekly breakfast conference of President Kennedy and Democratic congressional leaders.

The Senate leader, Mike Mansfield of Montana, said that the leaders and the President "hope that in that city the local elements will be able to bring about a solution of the uneasy situation existing at the present time."

3,000 Troops Set to Curb Outbreaks in Birmingham

Alabama's Governor Terms President's Order Illegal

BY JACK STILLMAN
BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Uncertainty and apprehension continued to grip this racially troubled city today as 3,000 combat-ready troops stood within striking distance in the event of new outbreaks of major violence.

Scattered violence was reported during the night. Two persons were hurt. Automobile windshields were smashed and windows were broken in about a dozen buildings.

A white youth was slashed on his right elbow with a knife. He said he was attacked by a group of Negroes. A Negro man was hospitalized after he was struck in the face by a large steel ball fired from a slingshot, apparently wielded by a white youth.

President Kennedy ordered the troops into the state, but Gov. George C. Wallace says the action is illegal and hinted that he may seek a federal injunction to keep federal forces out of the city.

Wallace has not decided whether he plans to greet the President "in the week," he said.

Lauds Committee
Kennedy said members of a Birmingham biracial committee who worked out an agreement to end mass demonstrations by Negroes "deserve to see it implemented in an atmosphere of law and order."

In other developments concerning the tense racial situation here: Jackie Robinson and Floyd Patterson spoke to Negroes at a mass meeting Monday night and said Negroes here are fighting to end segregation everywhere.

A Negro reserve police captain said that state troopers prevented him from using 62 uniformed Negro reserves to help quell the rioting which followed Saturday night's bombings.

Police said no arrests have been made in their investigation of the bombings. The FBI is working.

Chicago Police and Firemen Attacked By Negro Thongs

CHICAGO (AP)—Hundreds of Negroes, reportedly angered by wounding of a Negro youth during an attempted burglary, stoned police and firemen in what police termed an anti-police demonstration Monday night.

Twenty-five squad cars of police and several police dogs quelled the rock-throwing, jeering crowd in a predominantly Negro section of the West Side after the crowd had milled around for two hours.

Morlin Nygren, deputy police superintendent, said the disturbance began after a Negro youth was wounded during an attempted burglary of a warehouse. The youth, identified as Conley Dillon, 14, was in serious condition in a hospital with a bullet wound in his lung.

One policeman suffered minor injuries when struck by a rock. Windows of several police cars were shattered.

Naval Court Clears Skipper Of Escort Ship

Skylark's Captain Carried Out Duties, Tribunal Rules

PORTSMOUTH, N.H. (AP)—The Navy has cleared a young officer as a possible scapegoat in the sinking of the nuclear submarine Thresher with 129 persons aboard.

The action came late Monday when a naval court of inquiry investigating the April 10 sinking some 220 miles east of Boston withdrew the name of Lt. Cmdr. Stanley W. Hecker as a party to the inquiry.

Hecker, 36, of Brooklyn, N.Y., was skipper of the USS Skylark, the Thresher's surface escort vessel and the ship which received the ill-fated submarine's death throes radio messages.

Hecker was censured by the court April 16. The court said then his conduct as commanding officer of the Skylark "appears to be subject to inquiry."

Met Responsibilities
The court also emphasized that Hecker's apparent failure to inform higher authorities immediately of the Thresher's final messages cannot conceivably have contributed in any way to the loss of the $45-million submarine.

Atty. Gen. J. Lee Rankin, New London, Conn., Hecker's counsel, told the court Monday that subsequent testimony had shown that Hecker carried out his responsibilities fully.

Rear Adm. Lawson P. Ramage, deputy commander of the Atlantic Fleet submarine force, had testified last month he was unaware for 60 hours of the fact that Thresher's last clear radio message was one indicating trouble.

Hecker testified he gave this information to the officer who followed him as commanding officer in charge of the search for the Thresher.

Declines Comment
He declined comment when asked if Democrats Congressional leaders were asked to seek quick passage of the legislation when they met with the President for breakfast this morning, Salingor said the bill would only say that they were informed of the bill.

The British and several other foreign countries are trying to force Pan American World Airways and Trans World Airlines to charge increased fares over the North Atlantic routes, despite objections by the United States.

The higher rates had been agreed on by the International Air Transport Association last fall.

Briton Charges
Julian Amery, British Minister of Aviation, yesterday accused the Civil Aeronautics Board of "inciting" the two airlines to "break our law." He told the House of Commons:

"The situation is unacceptable and cannot be allowed to continue."

He has threatened to confiscate American airlines landing in London.

Salingor told his news conference that under present laws the CAB lacks power to enforce its air fares on foreign planes within the continental United States.

He said the proposed bill would give them necessary authority.

Rescheduled for Tomorrow After Trouble Occurs at Bermuda Tracking Station

BY HOWARD BENEDICT

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Astronaut Gordon Cooper's scheduled 22-orbit space flight was postponed today because of trouble with a tracking radar in Bermuda.

Space agency officials rescheduled the shot for 8 a.m. (EST) tomorrow.

The effort was called off for the day at 9:57 a.m. (EST) as Cooper, 36-year-old air force major, waited out the countdown while sealed in his tiny Faith 7 spacecraft atop the fully fueled Atlas space craft.

At the time, the countdown had progressed to within 12 minutes of launching.

The postponement came as an anti-climax after earlier troubles not connected with the Bermuda radar had held up the scheduled launching for two hours, 9 minutes.

That trouble was caused by a balky diesel engine designed to move the giant service tower away from the launching pad. It was necessary to replace a fuel pump and purge foreign matter from the fuel line before the engine could operate.

Indications of the radar trouble came only about 15 minutes before the launching was called off. The tracking station at Bermuda said it was experiencing intermittent difficulty, but Mercury Control officials decided to continue the countdown in case the radar could be repaired.

But technicians at Bermuda reported minutes later that it would be impossible to replace the equipment today, and the shot was called off.

12-Foot Diameter
The radar is a 12-foot diameter dish designed to send radio signals to the spacecraft as it rises over Bermuda about five minutes after launching.

The signals trigger a device called a radio transponder in the spacecraft. By measuring the time it takes a signal to travel from the Bermuda station to the spacecraft and then back to Bermuda, computers can determine precise velocity and the altitude of the astronaut's vehicle.

This information would be essential for determining whether Cooper had achieved the proper

Lays Down Guidelines for Removal of Rail Firemen

WASHINGTON (AP)—A three-man presidential panel laid down broad guidelines today for gradual removal of most firemen from freight and yard trains, central issue in a work rules dispute that threatens a nationwide rail strike.

The panel said the issues between the railroads and the five operating brotherhoods have been narrowed, and an agreement can be reached in the next 30 days if both sides will bargain realistically.

"The next 30 days will be important not only to the parties," but also to the nation, and to the future of collective bargaining as an effective method of disputes settlement. Although the general public is not a formal party to this dispute, each citizen in the United States has an acute interest in its resolution," the report said.

The central issue is the recommendation of an earlier presidential commission—named by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower—which proposed eliminating 40,000 firemen from freight and yard trains.

The railroads contend outmoded work rules cost them $600 million each year. They call these rules "featherbedding."

The railroads accepted the proposal of the earlier presidential commission, which called for substantial benefits for the eliminated firemen, but the unions rejected them.

As a result of negotiations within the last month, the three-man panel said the railroads have agreed that the bulk of the work performed by firemen on freight trains is necessary, but that in most cases it can be combined with work performed by other employees.

"On the other hand," the report added, "The brotherhoods do not contend there are no jobs presently occupied by firemen which cannot be abolished."

Basic Problem
"The basic problem, therefore, becomes one of establishing a procedure for ascertaining those situations, if any, which will continue to require the presence of a fireman in order to assure adequate safety, and to prevent placing an undue burden upon the remaining crew members."

The continued use of firemen on passenger trains is not an issue in the dispute.

County Board Provides for Court Reporter

Discusses Proposal To Add Investigators In Sheriff's Office

The Outagamie County Board this morning agreed to reclassify personnel to provide a part-time court reporter for County Court Branch No. 2 but balked at a proposal to add two lieutenant investigators to the staff of Sheriff Calvin Spice.

The latter proposal was being discussed when the supervisors adjourned for a noon break.

At stake is a resolution asking for the creation of two new investigator positions in the sheriff's office, increasing the special staff to four.

An amendment to the resolution, also not yet acted upon, reduces the addition by half or one investigator.

Sheriff Spice told the board that if the two additions are made, one man would be named juvenile officer to handle what the sheriff called "the county's number one enforcement problem."

Transfer Of Funds

The resolution calls for the transfer of $10,000 from the contingent fund to the sheriff's department to handle salary additions. The amendment proposes cutting the appropriation "by an appropriate amount," presumably $5,000.

Judge Gustave Keller made a personal appeal to the supervisors for the reclassification of personnel. He said the court caseload is so great and additional duties required by court reorganization so complex that a part-time court reporter is now essential. He said the employee would serve in a clerical capacity when not doing actual court duty.

The judge emphasized he was not asking for an additional employee inasmuch as the person earmarked and qualified for the job is already employed in a clerical capacity.

Official reclassification would, he said, permit the person to sign transcripts and also provide proper compensation of $380 per month for the duties. It would amount, he said, to an extra $85 per month — the difference between what the employee is now receiving and what she will receive upon reclassification.

Other Action

In other action the board agreed unanimously to a request by Outagamie County Coroner Bernard H. Kemps to attend a five-day training seminar starting Aug. 8 in St. Louis, Mo. The cost, Kemps told the board in a letter, will be $125. Kemps' letter came directly to the board without committee recommendation.

Superior Electric of Appleton was awarded the contract to install the county's civil defense siren warning system on the basis of its low bid of $23,770. Langstadt, Inc., the only other bidder, offered to do the job for $25,273.

The supervisors agreed to make it county board policy to sell tax-deeded lands to the former owner who lost his title through tax delinquent enforcement, or his heirs, and to give preference and the right to purchase to the former owner.

Arthur Lecker, Town of Grand Chute chairman, was reappointed to a new term on the county's board of adjustment zoning.

Town Board Sets 35 Mile an Hour Speed on Roads

NEENASHA — A 35 miles per hour speed limit was set for various streets by the board of the Town of Menasha at the board meeting Monday evening at the Spring Road School.

The speed limit ordinance sets the limits on streets and roads in the town, including Vera, Stead, Butte, Bengal, and Haase Streets and Linda Avenue. The limit on Haase Street affects that street from North Lake at Adalie Street.

In other action Monday night the board accepted a petition signed by residents requesting a storm sewer be installed on Gruenwald, Chapmann and Plummer Streets. The storm sewer is requested to alleviate the spring flooding situation in that area, discussion brought out Monday evening.

The board members were reminded by Town Chairman Amos Page of the opening of bids for the planned town office and park shelter Thursday.

The structure, approved at the annual town meeting in April, is to be built on Palisades Park land at an estimated cost of $20,000.

Forfeits $25 for Having Mallards In Closed Season

OSHKOSH—Gertrude Farr, 1617 Plank Road, Menasha, forfeited $25 and costs for having possession of two mallard ducks in a closed season and the money was turned over to the court of County Judge James Sitter this morning. She was arrested April 30 in the Town of Menasha by state conservation wardens.

Walter E. Schwartzkopf, 28, a New London barber, died about midnight Monday when his car ran across U. S. 10 and plowed into a mudbank near the Appleton city limits. Schwartzkopf was alone in the car at the time of the crash and died of crushing chest injuries. (Story on Page 1.) (County Police Photo by Sgt. George Else)

Sanitation Committee Seeks Full-Scale Trash Pick-Up Study

Buckley Proposal for Collection Twice a Month Well Received

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY Post-Crescent Staff Writer Appleton's once-a-month trash collection policy — target of a barrage of criticism from a group of irate housewives for many months — is going to be subject of a full-scale study by the department of public works.

The common council's street-sanitation committee requested the study Monday during a three-hour session at city hall when it appeared that members were split on proposals by two aldermen to increase municipal trash pickups.

Little enthusiasm was shown for the resolution of Ald. Donald Mueller (17th), who requested that a once-a-week pickup schedule be adopted in his ward as a pilot study. Mueller submitted a petition signed by 100 residents of his ward.

Warmer Reception However, it appeared the resolution of Ald. George Buckley (14th), requesting a twice-a-month trash collection program, met with warmer reception although the committee took no action on the study Monday during a three-hour session at city hall when it appeared that members were split on proposals by two aldermen to increase municipal trash pickups.

The city's trash policy was under fire prior to the appointment of Robert Bues as public works director, and Hollis Broussard as superintendent of the sanitation department. It was disclosed that Bues and Broussard have been working on possible ways of improving the trash collection operation.

There is no doubt but that the trash controversy has been building up in the community and may come to a head in the ensuing months. The trash burning ordinance has been batted back and forth like a ping-pong ball for months and a council committee is in the process of drawing up another new ordinance.

Ald. Loos Opposed Fire Chief Roland Kuehn has indicated in the past that the trash burning ordinance is ineffective. He would just as soon see it eliminated from the books. Several aldermen are critical of his position.

An indication the trash matter is getting hotter by the week was the reluctance last week of the welfare-ordinance committee to take action on a burning ordinance prepared by City Atty. Frederick Froehlich. The committee took the position the ordinance would be a waste of money.

Certificates of award will be presented by Dr. Donald Scott, for outstanding scholarship; Arlin Spiegelberg for eighth grade forensic; Miss Eugenia Kiryakakis, drama club; Miss Marion Beilke, "The Comet"; Paul Thoman, seventh grade basketball; Frederick Wachter, eighth grade basketball and intramurals.

The cheerleaders and G.A.A. members will receive awards from Miss Mary Appleton; library service club members, C. Edmund Hein; French poetry contest, John Steeves; and Science Fair, Joe Minsky.

Certificates of award to the student council will be given by Alan Ross and Douglas Pagel. Ross will give the farewell speech and install the new council officers. Dan Blank will make the acceptance speech for the incoming council and Prin. Alvin Long will close the program.

School Board Okays Heat Pump Unit in Junior High

Unusual 5-2 Split Ballot Ends Controversy That Has Delayed Building Albert Einstein Unit

BY JACQUELINE FIX Post-Crescent Staff Writer The Appleton Board of Education reluctantly and after lengthy discussion voted 5-2 Monday to use a heat pump system similar to that in the new Kimberly High School to heat and cool the proposed Albert Einstein Junior High School.

The split vote—rare for the Appleton board — broke a deadlock on the type of heating system that had blocked progress on the new school, originally planned for operation in September of 1964.

Opening of the building may be delayed for a semester or a full year, according to the architects. The estimated cost of installing the approved heating system is $322,000, and the estimated yearly operating cost is $15,350, according to the architects. The estimated operating costs are about the same as those at Madison Junior High School, which does not have air conditioning. Estimated costs for an alternate system with separate heating and cooling units were $334,000 for installation and $18,000 for yearly operation.

The delay on the decision on the heating system may hold up opening of the new school. The plans are expected to be ready for bidding in late July, Seaborne said. It is too early to tell whether students could move into the school in the second semester of the 1964-1965 school year, he said.

Several board members and educators visited two new compact schools, one in operation and one under construction, in Syracuse.

Woman Pushed To Ground by Would-be Thief

Man, About 30, Flees When Her Screams Are Heard

An Appleton woman was returning from her place of business with her tavern receipts in her hand was knocked down by an attacker near her garage about 2:30 a.m. today.

Police said Mrs. Hildegard Herb, 1348 W. Spring St., owner of Curly's Bar, 730 E. Wisconsin Ave., fought off the attacker and her screams awoke her son and a neighbor. Mrs. Herb said the man, about 30 years old with bushy hair, did not get any money.

Mrs. Herb said she parked her car in the garage at her home after working and saw the man coming up the driveway. She said she attempted to run to her back door, but the man grabbed her and pushed her to the ground. The man then struck her with his fist.

When she began screaming, the man ran across Spring Street and disappeared in a back yard.

Police found an abandoned stolen car owned by Mrs. Margaret Tyler, 1819 N. Division St., parked near the Herb home and theorized the car may have been taken by the attacker earlier in the evening.

Mrs. Tyler said the car was taken from her driveway after midnight.

Oshkosh Man Pleads Guilty Of Burglary

OSHKOSH — James Abbey, 29, 4184 Ceape Ave., Oshkosh, today pleaded guilty of night-time burglary and County Judge James Sitter set sentencing for June 4 and ordered a pre-sentence investigation.

Abbey admitted breaking into the Wertsch Motors Co. garage on Sunday and taking $139. He was first noticed by police early Sunday morning when they saw him walking down the street covered with soot and oil. He explained he had slept in a goal company yard.

Later, when the break-in was discovered and it was learned entry was made by crawling through a roof vent that was oily and sooty, police looked for Abbey and arrested him. He admitted the break-in to them. Restitution has been made of about $90 of the money.

GOP Re-Mapping Plans Introduced

MADISON (AP) — Republican sponsored plans to reapportion Wisconsin's legislative districts were introduced today in the State Senate.

The proposals almost duplicate State Senate and Assembly redistricting plans passed last session by the GOP controlled Legislature. Democratic Gov. Gaylord Nelson vetoed the measures and sounded the call for federal court action in the reapportionment dispute.

Nelson's chief objection to the Assembly redistricting plan was its failure to add to Milwaukee County's 24 representatives.

This recommendation will be presented to the City of Menasha for consideration, with an alternate location for the connecting expressway, according to the mo-

Pleads Guilty of Being Tipsy in Public

Miss Barbara J. Lemerond, 23, 1409 N. Bennett St., was fined $30 and court costs Monday after she pleaded guilty of being drunk in a public place. She appeared in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

Miss Lemerond was arrested by police at a restaurant where she had fallen off a stool.

tion made at the town board meeting Monday evening at the Spring Road School board office.

The alternate plan would run bridge and its approaches and the expressways leading from it.

If the original location and routing or the alternate plans are approved by the City of Menasha, the town will include the plans in the official town map, presenting any new structures from being built on the routes.

Planner Present

The town board met Monday night with the town park board and Gene Franchetti, planning director for the Valley Regional Planning Commission, to discuss the possible routes for the bridge and its approachways.

A map showing all structures, land elevations and other pertinent information was used in the discussion.

The original plan presented by the Schellie firm calls for the east approach to be at Ninth Street at the north Menasha city limits, with the connecting expressway running east to a point near the railroad tracks then northwesterly north of the "S" curve on County Trunk P, across the land where Calder Stadium is planned to be built, to the northwest corner of Suburban Heights then north to meet the east-west expressway south of County Trunk P.

Other routes discussed included one whereby the expressway would run along Ninth Street east almost to the Clovis Grove Grade School, then on a diagonal to meet the east-west expressway. This was dismissed as being too expensive because of the large number of homes built along Ninth Street.

One of the problems in the alternate proposal is St. Mary's Cemetery, which it was felt could be jumped over with an extension of the overpass over County Trunk P.

The largest problem facing the original plan is that the City of Menasha has already opened bids for the erection of Calder Stadium which is planned to be built directly in the path of the expressway.

It was pointed out during the discussion that the Schellie report on the bridge and expressways had been published previous to the time Menasha decided to go ahead with the erection of the stadium.

It was felt that consideration should be given to the plans of Blanche Gutzke, concerning the stadium and so the alternate plan was approved by the town board.

Cost Shares

It was the general feeling of the town board that the bridge should strike the east shore of the lake on city property, as if it didn't, the town would have to pay the greatest share of the cost of the bridge. It was felt that, because Menasha would be getting more benefit from the bridge, the city should pay its fair share of the cost.

This action by the board Monday evening, it was emphasized during the meeting, would not

2 Black Creek Barkeepers Fined $50 and Costs

Two Black Creek barkeepers each were fined $50 and costs after they pleaded no contest to charges of selling excessive amounts of liquor.

Wilbert L. Brick, 55, owner of Brick's Bar, and Karl Schardler, 59, owner of Karl's Bar, were arrested and charged by state tax and beverage agents who bought liquor from the bars in violation of the bars' Class B Liquor license April 20.

Russell Obermeier, 25, Shiocton, was fined $150 and costs for fur-agreements, but rather was an official statement of the town's feelings on the location of the bridge and its approaches and the expressways leading from it.

If the original location and routing or the alternate plans are approved by the City of Menasha, the town will include the plans in the official town map, presenting any new structures from being built on the routes.

May Meet

If the City of Menasha doesn't express official approval of either suggestion, both the town board and the city's Common Council may meet to discuss a possible third solution, according to Town Chairman Amos Page.

In other action Monday night, the town board approved the issuance of various retail and wholesale malt and intoxicating liquor licenses to firms and individuals in the town.

The town board also authorized the hearing, date yet to be determined, to change the zoning of the Badger Highways quarry pit to permit it to be used as a dumping area for the town, Menasha, Neenah and Appleton.

Board members were reminded by Page of the 7 p.m. May 22 meeting of the board with representatives of the state highway commission to discuss drainage of the GreenView Plat, including the drainage of water under Highway 41.

Trash Collection Study Requested

nance needed more study and refinement.

Ald. Kenneth Loos (3rd), chairman of the street-sanitation committee, appeared to be the main opponent of any stepped up trash pickups during Monday's meeting. "I just can't see where the average family would have a problem under the present set-up," Loos said.

"This trash and rubbish business is a big operation and I think the city is doing a good job," he said.

Health, Fire Hazards

Buckley said he felt his request for a twice-a-month collection was a reasonable one that deserved consideration from the committee.

"In the summer months, one collection a month is just too long of a spread," Buckley said. "Spring trash and other items in the garage or basement, as many people do, can attract roaches and ants."

The fire hazard comes in when piles of paper and cardboard boxes and containers accumulate in the garage or basement," Buckley said.

Buckley said he did not know what the additional cost would be to have an accelerated pickup service but thought the matter should be looked into.

Cans In Garbage

Loos warned that any tampering with the present program would result in added operational costs and a tax increase. It was his understanding that a rubbish collection study was in the process of being made.

Buckley agreed with other committee members that once-a-week pickups would not be necessary.

The question as to why cans could not be put in with the garbage was raised by Ald. Edward Krueger (11th), who said he understood there was no distinction as to where such articles went in the dump. "They are all dumped into the same place," Bues confirmed that ultimately the cans were buried with garbage at the municipal dump.

"I think the city should look into the idea of permitting residents to put cans in with the garbage," suggested Ald. Arthur Mueller (19th).

Ald. Clifford Radder (16th) saw no need for changing the present trash pickup schedule and suggested that one way housewives could prevent ants would be to wash out all cans before putting them in the trash can.

Last year, according to Loos, a suggestion was made to have householders smash cans on a voluntary basis. "It would help the situation a lot but you can't make people do it," Loos said.

Radder predicted if the city should go to a twice-a-month trash pickup schedule, it would cost three times more than now. However, Radder conceded later that he had no basis for his prediction after Buckley said he thought it would cost considerably less than a dollar on the tax rate.

Cost Unknown

"It would be more costly but I would have to make a study before being able to provide you with figures," Bues told the committee. He explained that if Appleton had everything picked up at the curb, including garbage, all costs would be at a minimum. Bues made no recommendation to this effect.

"If the people know this (more pickups) would raise their taxes, you won't have a one signing any more petitions," Radder said. He suggested that residents with paper storage problems should watch for paper drives and get it hauled away free by private groups "who are glad to get it."

Buckley's request that the committee obtain cost figures from the department of public works for twice-a-month pickup service was okayed. "I think the people would be willing to pay a little extra for better trash collection service," Buckley said.

Bues indicated he and others on his staff were all for making the study. "We do have numerous problems and I know that Mr. Broussard has been working on them," he said.

It was Bues' opinion that over a period of years the local collection system became "distorted" and that some routes and schedules were not being adhered to.

"It may be that a study will come up with a better system, I don't know," Bues commented.

Council to Act Wednesday on Closing Street

Permanent closing of Front Street appears inevitable.

Members of the common council's street-sanitation committee Monday afternoon gave their approval to closing the east end of the street.

The city plan commission and the council's public safety committee previously recommended the street be barricaded on a permanent basis.

All the property owners on the street petitioned the council for the closing of Front Street where it joins with Prospect Avenue. The council will take final action on the petition Wednesday night.

Chicago Driver Pays $230 on Two Charges

OSHKOSH — Not yielding to a state patrol car trying to stop him and speeding 90 miles an hour at night Monday afternoon cost James L. Garris 36, Chicago, a total of $230.

County Judge James Sitter fined him $75 for failing to yield to an emergency vehicle and $150 and costs on the speeding charge.

this fall, were already in operation.

The question, apart from compact or conventional design, is whether we are going to start building air-conditioned schools in Appleton, Dr. Whitney said earlier.

Board members pointed out that with the trends toward an expanded summer school program and a longer school year, schools will be in operation for more days during the hotter period of the year.

Confusing Figures

Board member Franklin Nehs suggested that a possible course might be for the board to hire an independent consultant to advise it on the technical questions involved in the heating system.

"The more figures I see, the more confused I get," he said. The board should follow the architects' recommendations or hire an independent consultant, he said.

The majority of engineers who have studied compact design say air conditioning is necessary, said Sauter.

"We have to decide what temperature we expect our students to tolerate, and I doubt if the member Dr. Roy Whitney 'I perts can help us,' said Mrs. Munro.

Need Cooling System

Buchanan said he believed the board would be wasting money if he would be happier if the Kim-berly High School, which will open whether the school should be ar-

Mother Pleads for Information on Dog That Bit Girl

An Appleton mother made one last plea today that anyone having information about a dog that bit her daughter to come forward.

The information might call a halt to a series of rabies shots now underway for Paula Boettcher, 6, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Boettcher, 1531 S. Jefferson St. The shots will continue for two weeks unless it can be determined the dog does not have rabies.

The child was bitten by a small terrier type dog on May 2. The animal was black and white, with white predominating. The dog was wearing a chain and may have broken loose, she said.

The dog was last seen heading for Madison Street. Police searched the area but were unable to find the animal.

Kaukauna Man Denies Drunken Driving

OSHKOSH — Herberl G. Hurst, 57, 1507 Cleveland Ave., Kaukauna, this morning denied a drunken driving charge and County Judge James Sitter set jury trial for May 31. Hurst was arrested by Winnebago County police May 3 on State 110 in the Town of Oshkosh.

stand that the compact school, with these refinements, can be built at no more cost than a conventional school, Schneider said.

He asked the architects how the bids for the Kimberly High School compared with the estimates. Sauter said there was less than one per cent difference.

Schneider made the motion that the Einstein School be equipped with the heating and cooling system recommended by the architects, after about two hours of discussion. Voting in favor of the motion were Schneider, Buchanan, Mrs. Waller Heil, Mrs. Munro and Nehs. Sumnicht and Dr. Whitney voted against it.

Appleton Man Says He Didn't Resist Arrest

Trial Set May 24 At Chilton for Marvin Barth, 24

CHILTON — Marvin Barth, 24, 1201 W. College Ave., Appleton, pleaded innocent of resisting arrest and disorderly conduct when he appeared Monday afternoon before Judge D. H. Seborna in Calumet County Court.

Barth was arrested by Calumet County authorities after he created a disturbance and struck a deputy early Sunday morning at Lake Park Tavern, route 1, Menasha, police said.

Judge Seborna set bond at $500 and scheduled the jury trial requested by Barth's attorney for 10 a.m. May 24.

Calumet County patrolman Irvan Vice was hospitalized briefly and will be sidelined from duty for at least a week as a result of injuries he suffered in the fracas which preceded the arrest. Barth also allegedly disturbed a dance hall inspector and struck a deputy during attempts to eject him from a dance, according to Sheriff C. J. Kosmosky.

Spice Named to Crime Lab Board By Reynolds

MADISON (AP) — Gov. John W. Reynolds announced the nomination today of three members to the State Crime Laboratory Board.

Named were Lee H. Arntz of Chippewa Falls, sheriff of Chippewa County; Calvin Spice of Appleton, Outagamie County sheriff, and Robert E. Koutnik of Two Rivers, Manitowoc County district attorney.

Appointments are subject to Senate confirmation.

The three will replace Clemens F. Michalski of Milwaukee, Jasper A. Webb of Janesville and Bruce J. Hutchins of Prairie du Chien. The terms of Michalski and Webb expired March 4; and Hutchins resigned.

Arntz and Koutnik were selected for four-year terms. Spice was named to Hutchins' unexpired term, ending in March, 1965.

Creek, pleaded innocent of a similar charge and will face trial Sept. 17. He has failed to post a $100 bond and is confined in the Outagamie County jail.

Sheriff Calvin Spice said the four were arrested after a liquor party in Bear Creek in which a 13-year-old youth stole some liquor. The youth drank most of the liquor and became sick. He has been turned over to county welfare workers. The party occurred Sunday night, Spice said.

Cultural Paupers Are a Challenge Both to Parents and Teachers

BY LESLIE J. NASON, ED. D., professor of education, university of southern california

What is a cultural pauper and what can schools do to help him? Well, you may get a clue from this explanation by a third grade boy of why he couldn't complete his homework assignment:

"We don't have that book at home. We only have two books there. We don't take a newspaper, either."

His teacher, a young woman from a third generation college-trained family, realized with a sudden shock why this boy was so baffled.

"I can't" was his favorite expression. His home background in no way prepared him to succeed in school where books tell stories mainly of middle-class life. Words used in school often were unfamiliar to him since they weren't the ones he heard at home.

Parental Problem

Further discussion showed his parents saw no real need for education. They saw no hope of his rising above the social and economic level they had achieved. That's how, in this land of equal opportunity, the boy with the least often is offered the least. The school was not geared to meet his needs.

There are many ways of helping underprivileged children to reach the highest goals within the limits of their intelligence.

Teachers, with patience, can help them develop wider word usage. Without this, they cannot understand their school books. The problem must be approached much as we teach a foreign language. The child has to see the meaning of each new word, use it, become accustomed to hearing it, make it his own.

These children need books written especially for them to build the background which most school texts incorrectly assume.

Transport Children

Children can be transported quickly to places of interest which will widen their backgrounds.

Many visual devices can be brought into play, such as flannelboards with pictures the children themselves search out from magazines available in the classroom, or slide projectors and motion pictures. Television and newspapers help make the solution easier.

We must recognize these children face difficulties in adopting satisfactory life goals. The aims and goals discussed by the college-trained teachers are not those he hears at home. As the first step in helping these children attain a satisfactory adult life, we must teach them that they can fit into the middle class-oriented schools.

But school is only one part of the child's life and is not his major influence. Children look primarily to their parents in adopting attitudes.

Education must provide counselors, familiar with the problems of these children and their parents, who can give their time and sympathetic help. The counselors can do much-needed work with the parents to help them see higher goals are possible.

New Measures

And new measures are needed to help determine the child's potential. Present dependence on verbal IQ's makes recognition of such potential difficult, if not impossible.

Neither parents nor children of social minority groups are oriented to American life, particularly school. So these children are often denied the American principle of equality of opportunity. It is hardly surprising, then, that they come to feel hostile toward both school and society.

There is a real challenge to education to help underprivileged children adjust to school and prepare themselves for places in society—the society which is rapidly eliminating the types of jobs held by their parents.

Airline Presses Bid For 1-Flight Service

North Central Asks CAB to Reconsider Clintonville Order

North Central Airlines is press-ing its bid for one-flight-a-day hop," the CAB was told. The airline will have to op-erate at a substantial loss there, a result of the CAB's recent de-cision.

The airline has filed a petition for an overflight of Clinton-ville, the airline will have to op-erate at a substantial loss there, a result of the CAB's recent de-cision. If the airline is given an op-portunity to serve Clintonville with served by two flights — one in the morning and the other in the afternoon.

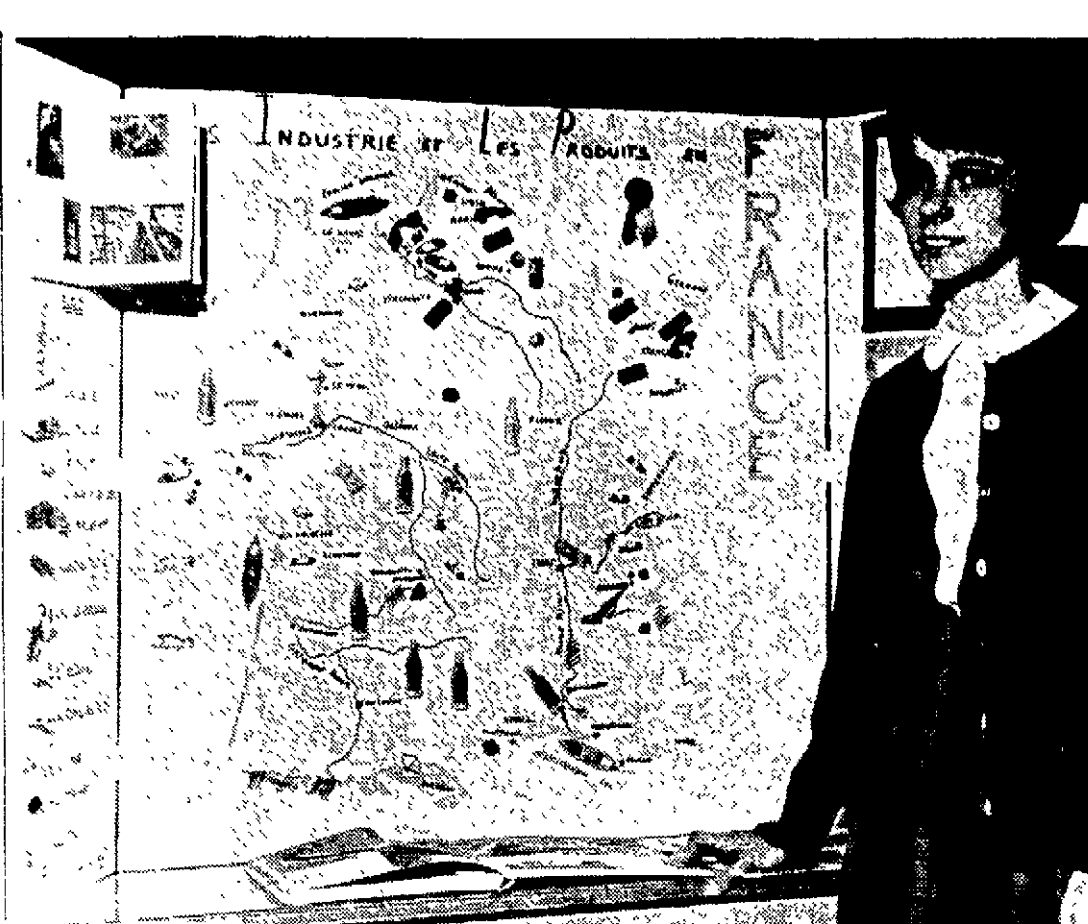

North Central's original petition to provide Clintonville with one daily DC-3 round trip was denied April 29 by the CAB.

Losing Money
The airline claims it is losing money on its Clintonville opera-tions.

Generally, the airline informed, the CAB that for the first three-month period of 1963, it incurred a loss of $305,763 after subsidy, as compared with a loss of $15,838 for the comparable period in 1962. This was on its overall op-eration.

As a result, North Central must find means to promptly im-prove its financial condition," and Atty. A. L. Wheeler, counsel for the airline, informed the CAB in the appeal.

Denial Result
"In order to live within the class rate structure, North Central must more nearly approxi-mate the average of the indus-try. To do this, the carrier must

Appleton Youth Who Hit Deputy Gets Jail Term

Incident Blamed For Starting Riot At Teen-Age Bar

CHILTON — The Appleton youth who struck a Calumet County deputy and triggered a riot at a beer bar Sunday night was sentenced to 60 days in jail and was assessed fines totaling $150 in Calumet County Court Monday.

Walter Skinner, 20, 318 Rankin St., pleaded guilty of resisting ar-rest and of disorderly conduct.

He appeared Monday afternoon before Judge D. H. Sebor, who ordered an additional 50 days in jail if the fines are not paid.

The penalties were $100 and 60 days in jail with an additional 30 days in lieu of fine for resisting arrest and $50 or 20 days for dis-orderly conduct.

It required 13 policemen to quell the riot. Deputy Raymond Schroeder testified Skinner was told to step off the dance floor at The King, a beer bar at Waverly Cor-ner, by a dance hall inspector.

Skinner became abusive to the inspector who then refunded his admission fee and ordered him from the dance.

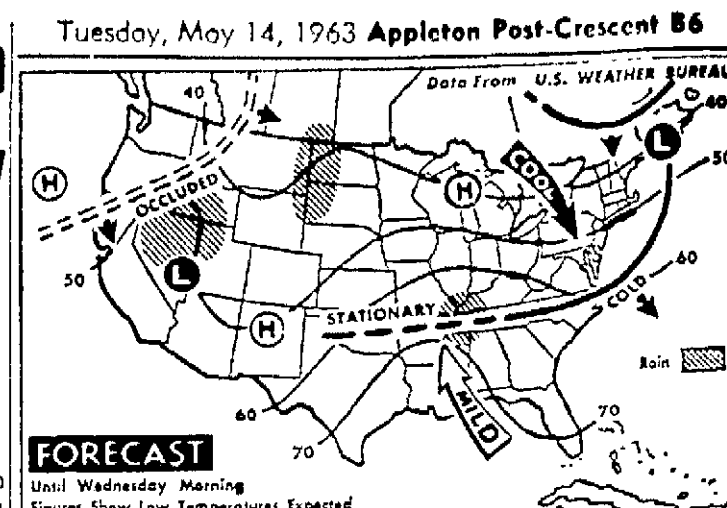

Struck Deputy
Schroeder said he was leading Skinner and two companions from the establishment when Skinner turned and struck the deputy in the face. It took two men to put him in handcuffs. Schroeder testi-fied. The scuffle is blamed for setting off the fight in the bar and parking lot. Deputy Ray Ecker was struck in the face before poseventh St., Kaukauna. Monday was fined $175 and costs. His driver's license also was revoked one year.

Guyette was arrested by state police one-half mile west of Lit-tle Chute on County Trunk OO.

He was taken to the Outagamie County jail where he was exam-ined by a doctor. Police said he too was unable to blow up a bal-loon for a drunkometer test.

Police stopped Guyette Sunday about 6:10 p.m. when he was spotted driving erratically.

Clear to Partly Cloudy skies are expected over much of the nation tonight, with milder temperatures. It will be slightly cooler over parts of New England. (AP Wirephoto) lice reinforcements arrived to break up the melee.

A successor to Mrs. Wright will be named in the near future.

Sheriff C. J. Kosmosky and every available deputy and traf-fic patrolman were sent to the scene. Eleven remained on duty until closing time.

Kimberly to Try Equipment Before Buying

Most of Cost Could Be Taken From Next Year's Budget

KIMBERLY—The board of public works Monday approved a plan to try a tractor and end loader supplied by the Paynter Equipment Co. for 30 days. Then a decision will be made on whether to purchase the equipment.

The concern indicated the village, if it decides to buy, could pay $100 per month for the equipment for the balance of this year and pay the remainder of the $7,750 from the 1964 budget. The village would be allowed $250 for an old tractor.

Board members indicated the purchase would be shared by the water department.

Street Project
The street commissioner was instructed to meet with representatives of the firm resurfacing Kimberly Avenue to ascertain whether use of an eight-bag cement mix in concrete used at intersections would speed concrete curing, thus hastening reopening of the street.

The contract calls for a six-bag mix.

The administrative committee was instructed to meet with the board of Holy Name Catholic

The administrative committee was asked to review weed ordinances of other communities before drawing up an ordinance to control weeds on vacant lots.

Progress on enclosing of the Sunset Point Park shelter was reviewed and indications are the work will be completed within a few weeks.

If Family Income Totals $7,140 You're Average

BY SYLVIA PORTER

Is your family's income around $7,140 a year? If so, yours is the average family income in the United States today. There are 58.5 million families and single individuals in this country and we had a total personal income of $419 billion in 1962. Divide that total by the number of consumer units and you get a "mean" or average income per unit of $7,140, the highest ever and up 3 per cent in one year.

Porter

Is your family's income less than $5,840? If so, you're now in the bottom half of America's families. This has become the "median" or middle income here — meaning half of us earn more, half of us earn less than $5,840.

Is your income around $4,720? If so, you're in the most crowded group. This is the "model" or most frequent income in this country now.

Middle Income Society

Are you in the $10,000-and-up million families in this income class and you represent 19 of every 100 families. If you are in the $15,000-and-up group, you have 4 million counterparts, represent seven of every 100 families.

The department of Commerce has just issued its annual analysis of the size and distribution of family personal incomes, and more than ever before the report in 1962 dramatizes how great a middle-income society we are. While, of course, the success of a nation is judged by many more yardsticks than its financial affluence, there is no reason whatever to underestimate our spectacular achievements in this area. Quite the contrary, the average income figure today pounds home the vital fact that despite the rapid inflation of the early postwar years and the continuing upward creep of prices, the vast majority of families are way ahead. Average real personal income — income corrected for price rises — has climbed at an annual rate of 1.8 per cent in the post-World War II period. Since 1929 — decades including depression, global war, inflation — the average rate of growth in real personal income has been 1.6 per cent. Admittedly, the average of $7,140 (it's probably over $7,200 by now) is tilted upward by inclusion of families at the top of the income scale, but even so it's a spectacular average.

Upgrading Ourselves

The figures revealing how many have moved into the $10,000-$15,000-and-up classes underline the speed at which we are still upgrading ourselves as a middle-income nation. In 1947 only 3 per cent of all families and single individuals were between $10,000 and $15,000. Now 12 per cent are in this group. In 1947 only 2 per cent had incomes of over $15,000. Now there are 7 per cent in this higher-income category. In 1947 a full 25 per cent had incomes below $5,000. This has been slashed by more than half to 12 per cent.

The upgrading is going on in every year too. In 1963 easily a million incomes will break for the first time into the $10,000-and-up class. The entire report emphasizes, despite depressed areas, the extent to which Americans we are a nation of affluence have "discretion" over how they will spend and save. There are 17.6 million families — 30 per cent of the total — with incomes of $8,000 or more. These citizens have enough income to need not spend every penny care about what is happening in the world of money and why it is happening. They have money left over to spend on services a column devoted to the economics of everyday life. The degree of "discretion" (All Rights Reserved)

King Home Adds Pumper Truck

It is equipped with 1,250 feet of 2.5-inch hose, 600 feet of 1.5-inch hose and 300 feet of booster line.

U.S. Cancels Three Nuclear Explosions

Report JFK Studying Test Ban Message

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has abruptly canceled a trio of explosions at its Nevada nuclear testing site. The action followed word that President Kennedy is studying a new note from Soviet Premier Khrushchev on test ban negotiations.

A White House spokesman denied there was any relationship between the two developments.

Without explanation, the Atomic Energy Commission announced Monday that it and the Defense Department were calling off "three small sub-kiloton detonations" which had been scheduled for this month.

Two were to involve nuclear devices, the third a chemical high explosive.

Radio Moscow had complained that the U.S. tests were aimed at producing new types of nuclear weapons and added in a veiled threat:

One Thing Clear
"One thing is clear, the USSR is not going to stand by idly watching the U.S. perfect its nuclear weapons."

U.S. Sources said the Khrushchev letter made no change in the Soviet position on a nuclear test ban—"it moves neither forward or backward."

The letter, also addressed to British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, made no mention of a threat Khrushchev had made to withdraw his offer to permit two or three inspections on Soviet soil to police a ban agreement.

The letter was in response to a message last month from Kennedy and Macmillan urging Khrushchev to help get the Geneva test ban talks off dead center.

Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, said Kennedy received the Moscow note shortly after his news conference Wednesday.

Not Hopeful
It was at this conference that the President said he was "not hopeful" that a test ban agreement could be reached with Russia.

"If we don't get it now," he added, "I would think perhaps the game is out of the bottle and we'll never get it back in again."

Shortly after the President left the press conference, the AEC disclosed the plans for the three tests which were canceled Monday.

Only two were described as actual nuclear detonations. The third was to employ chemical high explosives with a short-lived radioactive tracer.

Walter E. Schwartzkopf New London Driver Killed when he saw Schwartzkopf's car go through the intersection and hit the embankment. Moe estimated the car was going about 50 miles an hour.

Moe and two other witnesses found the dead man partially out of his vehicle. The front end of the car was damaged. The car dug a six-inch deep furrow as it plowed through the mudbank.

Schwartzkopf left his home in New London with a friend about 8:30 a.m. Monday to go trout fishing, according to his widow. He had been a barber for seven years and owned his own shop near his home in New London, since 1960. He was a member of the New London Jaycees, and served last year on active duty with the 32nd Division as a barber. He had no children.

The Kircher Funeral Home, New London, is handling arrangements.

Byrnes Will Oppose Raise In Debt Limit

Calls for Economy Ordering, Revenue Conservation in Bill

BY FRANCES McKUSICK

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — An attempt to "impose restraint upon the Administration and the Democratic Congress in its pell-mell rush to spend money faster than the greatest army of tax collectors in the world can collect it" will be made by Rep. John W. Byrnes, R., Green Bay, within the next few days.

Byrnes will commence his economy activities during House consideration of a Democratic bill to raise the debt limit to $309 billion, or an increase of $4 billion over the present level, when he will introduce his own measure prohibiting the increase.

The top GOP member on the House Ways and Means committee, which will handle the debt-raising measure, Byrnes said that his substitute requiring that the debt limit remain at $305 billion after present laws regulating it expire on June 25, would not "provide a comfortable debt ceiling for either the Administration or Congress."

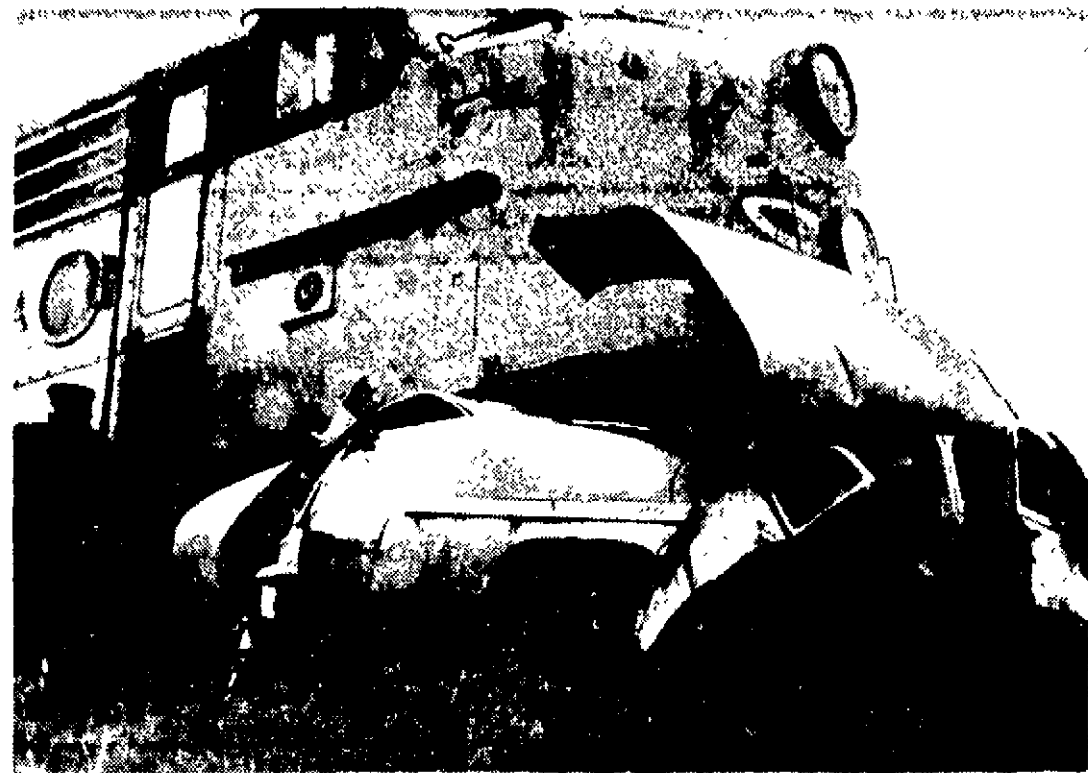

Conservative Revenues
"Instead, my measure would require the Administration, as it did briefly in November, 1961, to conserve revenues by ordering economies," Byrnes said. "It would also require diligence in Congress in opposition to unneeded appropriations. Its enactment would reflect a new determination to bring spending under control."

"The President's requests for authority to spend are mounting," Byrnes charged. "They rose from $30.9 billion in the 1962 budget to $107.9 in the 1964 budget, an increase of more than one billion a month."

The Green Bay congressman, who is also chairman of the House Republican Policy Committee predicted that Congress, which has been passing new spending programs every year would be "sobereed" if the debt limit reflected a "national determination to keep spending in rein."

He would not predict, however, what the chances were of his measure passing, since the Democrats have a sizeable majority in the House.

But at least he is going to try, and try hard to have his measure approved.

Police Dogs Have Now Sprung Into Dispute

BY MARTHA COLE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Police dogs have sprung into the news and into controversy.

Last week, Birmingham, Ala., police used them against Negro demonstrators. A blood-chilling picture of a snarling German shepherd leaping a demonstrator was seen all over the country. There were protests in Congress and from civil rights groups.

Providence, R.I., authorities used dogs last weekend to block an invasion of the downtown area by several hundred youths, many of them college students, on a spring fever foray.

London police used dogs, too.

Reservations For Proxmire Event Arrive

$25 a Plate Luncheon Purely Informal, With German Setting

BY FRANCES McKUSICK

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Reservations, accompanied by checks, for a special $25 per plate testimonial luncheon for Senator William Proxmire on June 5 are pouring in at a "surprising" rate, Mrs. Ester Lipson Coopersmith, who is in charge of arrangements, reported today.

Mrs. Coopersmith, herself a native of Wisconsin having been reared in Mazomanie and Middleton, said that although invitations were not sent out until Monday, so far there have been about 30 reservations made for the affair.

"This is most surprising, because usually reservations don't come in for testimonials until the very last minute," Mrs. Coopersmith told this reporter.

Arranges Parties
In her role as a sort of unofficial Elsa Maxwell for fund-raising, party-giving Democrats in Washington, Mrs. Coopersmith has had extensive experience in this field. Within the past few months, she has been in charge of arrangements, purely as a pastime, for Democratic Senators George McGovern of South Dakota, Vance Hartke of Indiana, Frank E. Moss of Utah and Badgerite Gaylord Nelson.

The luncheon for Proxmire, she said, would be "purely informal, and will follow the German motif — just as things are in Wisconsin." It will be given around the huge outdoor pool at the International Inn, with the pool fixed up as a German garden. Among other things, Polish sausages will be served. There will be no speeches — "Just a fun party," Ester said.

Mrs. Coopersmith's mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Lipson live in Middleton. Mr. Lipson is a retired dairy farmer.

California Leader to Journey With Nixon

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — The California Senate's Republican leader, John F. McCarthy of San Rafael, will accompany Richard M. Nixon on a trip to Washington, D.C., next week, it was learned Monday.

The two men were reported to have scheduled meetings with GOP leaders in the nation's capital.

McCarthy, 39, is considered a possible future contender for the GOP nomination for U.S. senator or governor.

over the weekend against ban-the-bomb demonstrators.

The thinking behind use of dogs in crowd control is humans' innate fear of them, according to a spokesman for the International Association of Chiefs of Police, Inc. The dogs are intended primarily as psychological devices rather than for attacking, he said.

New in U.S.
Their use is relatively new in this country. Some police officials contend dogs are a bonafide technique. Others feel they are of dubious value.

Nonetheless, in 10 years K9 corps have become a part of many big city police departments. London has been using police dogs for about 20 years and is a sort of focal point for their training and use. Baltimore and St. Louis sent men to London to study before setting up their police canine corps in 1956 and 1958, respectively. Those two cities also assist police of other cities in training dogs.

"Training is a sort of cooperative affair among police," said the spokesman for the police chiefs' association.

Each city adapts the dogs for its own use. They are used for patrolling, scenting out hiding criminals, guarding prisoners and dispersing crowds.

One Dog
St. Louis has one dog, Duke I, trained as a narcotics sniffer to locate packets of narcotics on a person.

Police dogs usually are German shepherds, sometimes Doberman Pinschers, two breeds that can be highly trained for the work. Usually one dog becomes the partner of a specific officer and lives at his home.

The dog is drilled to react immediately to a command. Basic obedience includes sit, down, stay, bark on command, retrieve on command and jump on command.

Sometimes he is taught to stop a fleeing man by barking until his handler can arrive at the scene. This sometimes requires gripping the man's sleeve.

The police chiefs' association has no official policy on use of the dogs and keeps no list of cities which have them.

An incomplete list includes Birmingham, Chicago, Miami, Houston, New Orleans, Atlanta, St. Louis, Baltimore, the District of Columbia, Salt Lake City, Richmond, Va., St. Paul, Cincinnati and the Virginia and Delaware state police.

Prairie du Chien Scene of First Safety Meeting

MADISON (AP)—The first of six regional safety conferences to be held in Wisconsin during May and June will open today in Prairie du Chien.

The program, exhibits, talks and a workshop session, will emphasize industrial safety but will also take in home, traffic and public safety.

Similar meetings sponsored by local groups affiliated with the Wisconsin Council of Safety are set for Kenosha May 15; Marinette, May 23; Merrill, June 6; June 12 and Ashland, June 20.

Senate Approves $15.3 Billion for Military Services

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate approved unanimously Monday a compromise bill authorizing expenditure of $15.3 billion by the military services for new weapons and for research and development.

The measure, agreed on by a Senate-House Commerce committee last Friday, reconciles differences in separate bills previously passed by each branch. It goes now to the House for final action.

Included in the measure is $363.7 million not requested by the Defense department for development of the supersonic jet reconnaissance airplane known as the RS70.

Donovan to Speak at State Bar Meeting

ing on the case, too, but has made no report.

Integration leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. went through the city's Negro community and in city halls and on street corners urging his listeners to discard their knives and clubs.

"If the streets of Birmingham are going to flow with the blood, let it be our blood and not the blood of our white brothers," he pleaded.

Two Army generals and top Justice Department officials set up a headquarters in Birmingham.

In two telegrams to the President, Wallace declared that the federal government lacks legal grounds for calling out Army units as long as state and local officers maintain law and order.

Kennedy said he not only had alerted regular Army men but also had taken preliminary steps to mobilize the National Guard.

In response to this, Wallace told newsmen that if he felt it necessary, he would call out the guard "regardless of what the President said."

The President as well as high Department of Justice officials expressed the hope that it would not be necessary to call upon federal troops for duty in Birmingham.

Confusion on Command
Confusion existed as to who actually was in command of forces patrolling an area where rioting erupted Saturday night.

Most of the officers patrolling the area were state highway patrolmen and special officers from other state agencies. But some city police also were on hand.

The patrol at one time was estimated at 1,200 men. It was reported that only a few hundred were on duty the night of the riot. Most of the nearly 600 state troops sent to the city had returned home after the biracial committee reached an agreement.

The police patrol at one time was estimated at 1,200 men. It was reported that only a few hundred were on duty.

Cooper Space Shot Now Set For Tomorrow

orbital course. If the desired path is not achieved, Bermuda then sends a signal to bring Cooper out of orbit immediately.

Cooper had been sitting in his cramped capsule for four hours and 21 minutes. He had entered the capsule after breakfast and a final physical examination.

The astronaut was to be taken down from his Faith 7 capsule and returned to his special ready-room quarters in Hangar S, about three miles from the launching pad. It was expected to take the launch crew about an hour to roll the service tower back around the Atlas and then remove the capsule hatch to release Cooper.

In Good Spirits

There was no immediate comment from the astronaut on the postponement. He was reported in good spirits and anxious to go as the countdown moved on, only to stumble over the technical roadblock.

Astronaut Virgil I. Grissom and John H. Glenn Jr., experienced similar frustrations in having their launchings called off at one time after they were on the couches of their space capsules.

Alan B. Shepard Jr., Malcolm Scott Carpenter, and Walter M. Schirra Jr., also went through postponements, but all occurred before they entered the capsule. The postponement today was the fourth in four months for Cooper's mission.

It originally was scheduled for February but a shortage of funds resulted in cutback of overtime and the February date slipped until April 2. A subsequent need to alter electrical wiring in the Atlas autopilot pushed the date to May 7. Another week's delay occurred when trouble developed with gyroscopes in the Atlas guidance system.

Today's postponement disappointed Project Mercury officials, more than 700 newsmen gathered at Cape Canaveral to cover the shot, and millions watching television and listening to radio around the world.

A large recovery fleet of 28 ships, 125 planes and 19,000 people was strung out around the world to recover the astronaut no matter where he landed. It will remain on station until the launching is rescheduled.

Had Been Confident

Before the crucial radar trouble at Bermuda threw a monkey wrench into today's plans, officials had been confident. They announced that they were changing the latest possible launch time from 10:30 a.m. until noon, giving scientists an extra 90 minutes to get the rocket off the ground.

The announcement said the launch period was extended because of favorable weather reports from recovery areas around the world.

Minutes later the giant service tower began moving away from the 93-foot tall Atlas-capsule combination. Cooper entered his spacecraft, which he named Faith 7, at 5:36 a.m. At the time, the countdown was proceeding smoothly toward a planned 8 a.m. blastoff. But when the count reached minus 60 minutes, the moment when the service gantry was to be pulled away, the diesel engine which drives it refused to start.

A hold was called in the count, and a check of the engine disclosed impurities in the fuel pump and fuel line of the 275-horsepower unit. The pump was replaced, the line purged and a new supply of fuel put in. This required two hours, 9 minutes.

Count Resumed

As the count resumed, Cooper was reported in good condition. In Houston, Tex., the astronaut's wife and two teen-age daughters sipped coffee and orange juice during the delay. Mrs. Trudy Cooper and the girls alone in their ranch style home 25 miles east of downtown Houston, had arisen at 5 a.m. CST but because of the delay, they still had not eaten breakfast two hours later.

Word that the launching, which had been going so smoothly, had been delayed, came in an announcement from Mercury Control.

At the same time Mercury Control Center reported that a power cord—called an umbilical cord—accidentally disconnected from the spacecraft. This problem was corrected in about 15 minutes but at 7:30 a.m. the service tower problem had not been solved. The umbilical line feeds electrical power to the capsule until just before lift-off.

It was the first time within the memory of veteran missile reporters here that a service tower failed to move back on a major launching.

The astronaut was eager to fly as he slipped into his capsule couch.

Cooper's mission: a 34-hour, 19-minute flight that would whirl him 22 times around the globe. Clouds, scudding before a moderate wind, dotted the sky as the astronaut was sealed into Faith 7. The weather still posed a threat to Cooper's launching.

Eggs, Steak

Cooper was awakened at 2:50 a.m. He showered, shaved and ate the traditional flight-day breakfast of the astronauts: orange juice, scrambled eggs, a small steak and toast. His breakfast companions were astronauts Walter Schirra and Donald K. (Deke) Slayton, Walter Williams, Project Mercury flight director, and Robert R. Gilruth, director of manned space flight.

Then came the final physical checkup by Dr. Howard Minner, a flight surgeon. Minner said he found Cooper in "tip-top shape." After Cooper had lugged on his light-fitting silver suit, Lt. Col. John A. Powers, spokesman of the astronauts, said he asked him: "Are you ready?"

Cooper replied: "You bet."

He waved to newsmen as he left the living quarters in Hangar S to climb into the huge van for the three-mile ride to launch. Complex 14.

Louisiana Bill Gives Women Right to Change Hair Color

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—A bill in the Louisiana House of Representatives would give women the legal right to change the color of their hair without disclosing their action.

The measure, introduced Monday by Rep. Margaret Lewis would not require a woman to tell the color of her hair when applying for a driving license.

"One of the basic rights of womanhood," said Mrs. Lewis, "has always been the right to change her mind as many times, and under whatever circumstances she deems fit."

Cooper Considers Religion Important

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Although astronaut Lt. Gordon Cooper Jr. is not a regular church-goer he considers religion important. He does not regard it, however, as something to turn to only in an emergency.

"Religion is important in all the things we do," he says, "but I don't think a man needs to fall back on his faith any more or less in this space project than in any other undertaking."

Call of 'Aloha' Draws Elks Members To Hawaiian Dinner, Dance Saturday

A quick trip to palm-shaded Hawaii was made by members of the Appleton Elks Club who attended the luau Saturday evening at the club. Swaying trees and dancing girls, so much a part of the tropical aura of the islands, were evident in the party setting. Women cooperated with the theme by wearing muumuus, sarongs, hula skirts and the men donned aloha shirts and beachcomber hats.

The island hopping began at 6 p.m. with a cocktail hour. A special luau dinner included roast suckling pig, roast pork, roast beef, fowl, barbecued ribs, fruits, and salads.

The dancing program was interrupted at 11 p.m. for a hula contest. Special prizes were also awarded for costumes.

Andrew Kangas and William Gmeiner were chairmen, assisted by Mrs. Kangas, Mrs. Gmeiner, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Ornstein, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Wordell, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Liethen, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Schumacker, Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Harrmann, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mehlberg, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Kelley and Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Cresswell. Crimes at Bridge Not Intentional

Most of us drift into crime without really planning it. We begin with cookies and jam, and go on from there to knocking over banks and dropping tricks at the bridge table. If you spot South's crime in today's hand just say to yourself that you might have done the same thing if your mother and Sheinwold hadn't taught you right from wrong.

Declarer won the first trick in dummy with the king of clubs, got to his hand with the ace of diamonds, and led a heart to dummy's king. So far so good.

South then returned a heart from dummy and played the ten to drive out West's ace. Back came the jack of clubs to dum-

Narrow Room Problems

A long, narrow living room isn't too difficult to arrange if a four-some-size table and chairs can settle comfortably at one end of the room. When there's no need to spread sofas and lounge chairs apart to fill extra room length, they can draw close together in a companionable conversation grouping.

But in many long, narrow rooms, much space near a short end wall can't be used for furniture. Floors must be cleared for passageway to a doorway, as in this room, which has a door out of view at right. The sketched area wouldn't be comfortable, nor look it, if small storage pieces crowded around the table grouping. Instead, the background is kept smooth as bountiful built-in storage and a recess for TV fronts the already projecting end wall completely. The storage wall always looks serene although space behind the sliding doors may be filled to the last inch. Wood surfacing for it is finished to match grasscloth on the other walls for room-enlarging effect, and rug stripes seem to lengthen the distance between walls.

he fell from grace early. See if you can find the wrong play for yourself before you read on.

South went wrong at the fourth trick when he led the second round of hearts from the dummy. It was right to lead the second heart, but wrong to play the ten of hearts from the South hand.

If the six missing hearts were divided 3-3, South could play any heart and wind up on his feet. He would lose exactly two heart tricks. Even if an opponent happened to win the second heart trick with the nine, the ace and queen would have to fall together on the third round of hearts.

If the missing hearts were divided 4-2, South's only chance was to play low on the second round of hearts. West would have to play the ace anyway, which is why South should play low. Then South would still have the jack and ten of hearts and could set up the suit with only one further loss.

Correct play would give South three hearts and two tricks in each of the other suits.

Precautionary Measure

But with all their assets, sunglasses are not the end-all of eye care during the hot months. Heat tends to dry and pucker the thin skin around the eyes. Precautionary measures are thus in order. Good ones are a film of moisture cream worn by day under makeup, and applications of rich eye cream at bedtime.

Eye cream, teamed with herbal pads, is an invaluable adjunct to tanning sessions. For then you must remove sunglasses or develop owlsh white rings. Pads on the lids and cream on the exposed skin supply the necessary cover. The shade that keeps eyes shining and young!

Youthful beauty problems can be brought under control by proper skin care, cosmetic applications, health habits and facial expressions. Methods are detailed in my leaflet, "The Eyes Of Youth." Eyes Need Protection From Sun's Glare

The sun's rays are more potent now, during the growing season, than in mid-summer. So if you do not automatically slip on your sunglasses when your eyes are exposed to glare, you had best form the habit.

Failure to protect the eyes causes such physical discomforts as eye strain, headaches and temporary decrease in night vision.

Not to mention such beauty disorders as bleary eyes and permanent squint lines!

Who would deliberately court any of those ailments? It is not as though sun specs were unattractive. Indeed they have become handsome accessories, easily

BUYING RHUBARB

Rhubarb ranges in color from pink to dark red. Pink stalks have pale green crinkly leaves; red stalks have dark green ones.

Look for crisp, firm stalks. Test stalks by puncturing. Stale rhubarb is pithy and tough, has poor flavor when cooked.

To store rhubarb, cut off and discard leaves. Wash stalks; dry well and wrap in moisture-proof wrapping. Use in 1 or 2 days.

Allow one pound of rhubarb for five half-cup servings of sauce.

Your Problems

Repayment of Debts Necessary To Clear Wife's Conscience

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Several years ago my husband and I got so deeply in debt we didn't know what to do. My husband went to see a friend about borrowing some money. The friend advised him to file a petition in bankruptcy. My husband took his advice because it seemed to be the only way out.

I haven't had a good night's sleep since. I keep going over the list of people we owe money to and it's driving me crazy. My husband says I am nuts — that a lot of decent people go through bankruptcy and it's a perfectly honest and legal way to get out from under.

All his talking doesn't help. I still feel guilty. We owe a few small bills now but if I went back to work I would be able to clear them up and start to repay the people who lost on us. Am I nuts as my husband says, or should I go ahead and do it?

— Conscience
Dear Conscience: Go ahead and do it. You'll never have peace of mind until you do. First pay your current obligations. Then write or phone the people who lost money on you and tell them you will begin to repay them soon. You'll feel better immediately.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A very handsome guy named Harry asked me to go steady with him last winter. I was thrilled and accepted. After a few weeks I noticed that my whole life was regulated by basketball. If Harry played a good game everything was peaches and cream. If his game was off he'd get ugly and pick a fight over nothing.

The night Harry's team lost the city championship he was in such a foul mood he called me a few names you wouldn't print and broke our date for the next evening which was a big school dance. It was then that I decided to call off our steady arrangement.

Now that basketball season is over he's begging me to go steady again. He says basketball was to blame for all our problems and now we will get along like two little lovebirds. Shall I take a chance? I like him a lot. — Kitten

Dear Kitten: If it's not basketball it will be something else. Like a great many other people, Harry takes out his frustration and anger on the handiest object. This is called "displacement."

Date Harry occasionally but don't go steady with him — or with anyone else.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please stop telling people it's all right to put the dog's dish in the dishwasher with the family plates.

Hot water and soap do not kill every kind of germ. If this were true hospitals would not need sterilizers. Even boiling water does not kill all bacteria, especially spores of fungi.

A dog should have his own dish and it should not be washed with those used by human beings. The notion that a dog's mouth is cleaner than a human's mouth is folklore — notwithstanding the phrase "as clean as a hound's tooth."

We know very little about some diseases and how they are transmitted. Since animals do transmit some diseases to man it is wise to observe sanitary precautions. — T.B.M. — Emeritus Mayo Clinic

Dear T.B.M.: My authorities tell me that you are indeed correct — hot water and soap do not kill all germs. Most animals, however, (like most humans) are not infected and therefore routine precautions are sufficient. When handling sick animals — as when dealing with sick humans — stringent sterilizing procedures are essential. The person who wishes to take no chances should wash the dog's dishes separately.

Are you going steady? Making marriage plans? If so, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Before You Marry — Is It Love Or Sex?", enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope. Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Children Must Practice Responsibility When Young

BY DR. EVE JONES

DEAR EVE JONES: We live in a suburb where the yards can't be fenced in. I don't let my 2½-year-old boy play outdoors without me for this reason.

My neighbors, though, have all let their children play outdoors alone at an even earlier age, with older children supposedly watching.

Angels must be watching, too, because the older children stop watching after a few minutes. I've seen some nearly disastrous experiences and I think I'm right in staying with my child, but the neighbors disagree.

Children should not take responsibility for each other this way. But your child is now old enough to begin to practice taking responsibility for himself — that way, he won't need you or the angels to supervise.

Tell him you think he's old enough to play outdoors without you and to remember that he must stay on your side of the street and within sight of your house.

Remind him he may not go into another house without asking you first. Watch from your window for a few days to be sure he respects these limits; if not, remind him again and let him try again.

DEAR EVE JONES: I've been babysitting with two children for the past two years. They're now 4 and 2, girl and boy, respectively. Their mother became divorced and started to work just when I first went to work for her.

The girl has always been a very lovely child and easy to take care of. But the boy is wild, he destroys things and deliberately hurts himself and his sister, and he doesn't talk clearly.

I'm afraid he must be retarded, but his mother says he's perfectly normal and she refuses to have him examined. I don't want to leave this job, but what can I do?

Something is obviously wrong, but it's probably connected with the ways you've been using to try to instruct the boy in self-control. Real mental retardation is highly unusual — faulty training is very common.

The boy is primarily a product of your care and attention, of the demands you make on him and the satisfactions you give him.

Change your ways to be more like the mother who, apparently, was successful in teaching her daughter self-control during the first two years of the daughter's life.

The boy's behavior should improve in a few months with better care. If it doesn't, or if you can't change your ways, personal psychological consultation will be needed.

"To Spank or Not to Spank" is the title of a new booklet by Dr. Jones that offers advice about this parent-child problem. For a copy, write to her care The Appleton Post-Crescent, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover handling.

Observe Thank-You Etiquette

Brides can make a beautiful beginning by sending proper thank-you notes.

Test yourself with this true-or-false quiz on writing form for brides — or, better still, brides-to-be.

It is correct to wait until after the wedding to send thank-you notes for gifts.

False. So far as is possible, write your thanks as soon as gifts arrive. Those arriving too late to answer before the wedding should be acknowledged promptly on return from the wedding trip.

It's correct to use a printed "informal" for thank-you notes.

True. There is no objection to printed notes, but small conventional note-size paper is preferred. White, cream or gray paper is always in good taste, and Skipat should be available in several colors to add a distinctive touch.

Some social mail may be typewritten.

False. The only excuse for a typewritten note is that you've broken your arm and had to dictate it.

A personal note must be dated in the upper right-hand corner.

False. You can date a social note in the lower left-hand corner, if you wish.

It's correct to abbreviate words like street, avenue, boulevard.

False. These words should be spelled out.

Good handwriting, as well as good manners in letter writing, enhances your thank-you notes.

Finally, the real test of a thank-you note for a wedding gift is its sincerity. References to the gift should be made. For instance, the following would be considered appropriate: "Dear Joan: Jim and I love the casserole you sent, and we want you to come over as soon as we are at home to share dinner from it."

New Couple's Club Has First Dinner, Program

Square dancing was the order of the evening at the Thursday evening meeting of the newly organized Couple's Club at the First Congregational Church. A 6:30 p.m. dinner preceded the program. The organization is open to single adults as well as married couples.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Ragus and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Matson were party chairmen, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Bernhard, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Duthie, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Colson, Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn Gehrt and Mr. and Mrs. Karel Zimmerman.

Fresh Vegetables

Leaky green vegetables will retain their natural color and flavor best if they are seasoned as they finish cooking. Add sugar or salt just before removing the vegetables from the stove.

Let's EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By Sylvanus M. Duvall, Ph.D. and Evelyn M. Duvall, Ph.D.

SOME PEOPLE CARE
NOTHING ABOUT PUBLIC OPINION.
TRUE ☐ FALSE ☐

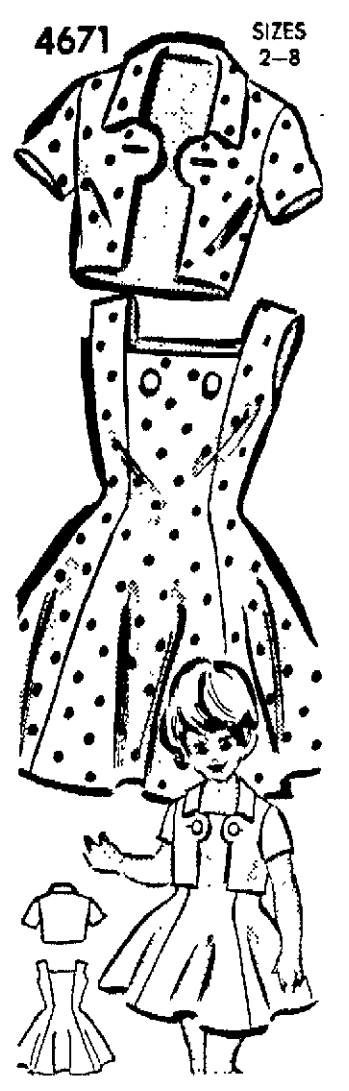

False. It is true that some people (interrupt their play by long arguments about what is and is not ly when convinced that they are, in some sense, "Messiahs." But this supposed lack of concern may come out of their hopelessness, of boundary lines. Children are not their indifference. They feel usually far more concerned with that it is not otherwise possible for them to win the support of others. Therefore they pretend a complete indifference or even hostility to public opinion. Often this is a case of "sour grapes."

Do children usually rebel against rules?
Yes — No —

No. On the contrary, they seem to feel that rules are necessary. They want their stories always told in the same way. They in-

Today's Etiquette BY LOUISE DAVIS

TOOK TOO MUCH FOR GRANTED

Dear Louise: Our church guild served its very first catered dinner at our daughter's wedding reception attended by 80 people. The groom's parents who live in Europe were unable to come, so he asked his landlady and her mother to substitute for them. Unbeknownst to me or my daughter, there were place cards for them at the bridal table and none for my husband and me. There has been much controversy over this and I would like to have it straightened out. When I complained afterwards, the women said that they didn't want any more than 12 at the bride's table. I was never consulted. I am sure that the guild could have planned better.

Louise Davis Answers: I am sure that it would have been planned better had you given the necessary instructions and supervision. Members of the guild have much to learn, but you were mostly to blame for your failure to give them explicit directions. You and your husband were host and hostess and you should have been hosts. The landlady and her mother had no priority at the table and in no way could they have been considered as proxies or substitutes for the bridegroom's parents. Even if there had been room for a dozen or more at the bridal table, they should have been placed at another table. It would have been so simple had you designated where each person was to sit by drawing a chart, writing out the place cards yourself, then turning them over to the guild members, telling them thus exactly what you wished. Even professional caterers will go along with the hostess' instructions, but this must involve getting your heads together in advance.

Game of 'Tiny Musical Chairs' Played on Table

BY CAPPY DICK

One more player than there are chairs, someone will be left with no chair on which to put his bottle cap. He must drop out of the game.

One of the chairs is removed and the music starts again. When it stops, another player will be caught holding a bottle cap and have no place to put it. The game continues until only one chair and two players remain. The winner is the player who captures that final chair when the music stops.

dotted lines indicate folds to be made. Notice the tapered tab at the right-hand end. This is to be fitted into a slot in the chair back as in "A" and "B" of Figure 2.

After you have made a supply of chairs, line them up on the table as in Figure 3. The chairs should number one less than the number of players. Give each player a bottle cap.

To start the game, all the players gather around the table and someone sings a song or plays the piano. The instant the music stops, each player must place his bottle cap on the seat of one of the little chairs. Because there is

Sid Caesar
Airs Silent Film Saga

BY TV SCOUT

9:30-10 (Channel 11) — As Caesar Sees It comes up with the best show of the season, an all-pantomime romp devoted mostly to what is described as a "soul-searing saga" of the silent screen. "A Fool's Profile: The Rise and Fall of John Splendid." Sid Caesar is Splendid, an actor who wins a starring role in a David Fiasco production when women faint at the sight of his profile. But Splendid's nose goes to his head, and his high living goes to his nose, and our hero winds up a bawdy bum.

6:30-7:30 (Channel 11) — Combat comes up with another good character study. Caje (Pierre Jalbert) kills a French civilian during a street fight with Germans. Upset, he meets the dead man's young daughter and feels responsible for the care of the orphaned child. Saunders (Vic Morrow) tries to get it through to Caje that responsibility can't be carried personally during a war.

7:30-8:30 (Channel 4-5) — Redi-Go, Moreno and Tal head for a strictly business stockmen's convention on Empire where: Tal killed the 25-pound animals.

8:30-9:30 (Channel 4-5) — The Dick Powell Show repeats a haunting story of a member of the beat generation. Tuesday Weld turns in a fine performance as a mixed-up kook running from — well, she's not quite sure. There is a mysterious stranger following her, and we are never sure until the end exactly who he is.

9-10 (Channel 2) — Two lovely ladies brighten the repeat on The Garry Moore Show. One is Eileen Farrell, the magnificent soprano, who sings an "Andrea Chenier" aria. The other is Marion Lorne who starts the show with a funny bit about her new fur coat. Alan King does a monologue about suburban house parties, and Roy Castle sings and dances "Why Not Me?"

Dispatched a Coin

GLEN ELDER, Ka. (AP) — Nine-year-old Tim Porter returned home from school, found his parents gone and a large raccoon wandering about the farm yard. Seeing his duty, 51-pound Tim got the family rifle and shot and vented on Empire where: Tal killed the 25-pound animals.

Jingo Sees Need for More Juvenile Theater

BY JINGO

With "Ah Wilderness," "Three Men on a Horse" and "Pygmalion" happily on the records, the collegiate theater bows out of the picture leaving the stage wide open for the eagerly expected summer theater.

The collegiate season has been a successful one from practically every angle. Our colleges not only have continued their growth in showmanship, but they have succeeded in building a larger base for further growth.

F. Theodore Cloak, head of the Lawrence College drama department, reports a most encouraging increase of academic interest in his department and adds the encouraging note that this interest has developed a more professional base than ever before.

Theater in the Fox Cities and the ever expanding area it affects seems to be building well — at least on the adult level. The juvenile theater, on the other hand, appears to be a fertile field for similar growth. It looks pretty fallow as of now.

With the exception of the Junior Community Theater and the Masque and Wig in Oshkosh our youngsters don't have much opportunity to try their creative wings in the theater outside of occasional high school theatricals and a very spotty program of extra-curricular dramatic instruction.

As little as this may be, the youngsters who miss out — miss out.

Attrition taken in interest in the theater is bound to be frightful.

It appears to Jingo the kids are being short changed. Since the adult theater would be the eventual benefactor, it also would appear it would be to the adult theater's self interest to push a little to shape up something that would give the youngsters a fair shake in developing interest and talent in the stage.

Demands Teamwork

Despite infrequent peccadillos evinced by actors and stage people, the active participation in drama is one of the most effective teachers of discipline. Few things off the athletic field demand more recognition of interdependence than the theater. A tackle absorbing crushing punishment on the gridiron gets no greater realization of the value of hard, sacrificing teamwork than does an actor producing a worthwhile show under the hands of a dedicated director.

With all of the academic and extra-curricular competition during the school year, perhaps the summer vacation is the time to help more youngsters to the chance of garnering the rewards awaiting them on the stage. This summer would be a good starting point. The Oshkosh youngsters shouldn't be the only ones to reap this harvest.

Three Appleton Insurance Men Get Sales Honor

Three Appleton life insurance representatives have received notification of membership in the 1963 Million Dollar Round Table of the National Association of Life Underwriters.

All members of the 1963 Round Table must have sold at least a million dollars of life insurance in 1962 or must have met the special requirements for life membership by their million-dollar-a-year sales in prior years.

The Appleton members and their companies are Herbert W. Krueger, Aid Association for Lutherans, H. Karl Schuettler, Northwestern Mutual Life, and Robert J. Spooner, Equitable Life of New York.

Fewer than 1 per cent of the world's life insurance agents are Round Table members. This year's membership is about 3,400, an increase of approximately 300 over 1962.

Appleton Committee Will Inform Xavier Of City Regulations

Xavier High school officials are going to receive a letter from city officials for "jumping the gun" on a driveway construction project.

The common council's street-sanitation committee had before it Monday a request from the school for permission to remove 20 feet of curb for a new driveway at the east property line along Pine Street.

Public Works Director Robert W. Bues said it was his understanding that the curb was removed and driveway installed the day the city received the request in letter form.

Committee members said Xavier High school should have received city approval first. Aldermen said they had no alternative now but to approve the request but at the same time voted to send Xavier officials a letter appraising them of city regulations.

In other action, the committee approved the moving of a house from 1318 N. Richmond St. to 1014 W. Kamps St.

Recommended the Appleton Jaycees be given permission to use College Avenue between Appleton and Division Streets for the Fox Cities Soap Box Derby on June 16. A large launching ramp will be erected at the east end of the site.

Received an opinion from the city attorney that the city had the right to remove privately-owned trees which obstruct vision at intersections. The committee has a tree at Atlantic and Division Streets in mind.

Directed that crossings and corners around City Park be put on the street and curb painting schedule this year.

Referred to the city engineering department for study a request that West Lindbergh Street be extended as it will be a main thoroughfare leading to a new park on the city's far northwest side.

Turbine Car Introduced

Chrysler Displays New Vehicle to be Tested by Consumer

Chrysler Corp. today in New York City unveiled the first family-size, turbine - powered auto to be offered to consumers for evaluation.

The company plans to build 50 of the turbine cars, to be distributed to selected users beginning this fall in a consumer test program. Each user will have the auto for periods up to three months under a no-charge agreement.

The auto has 30 per cent fewer parts than a standard V-8 piston engine vehicle, the company claims. It operates on one spark plug, does not require periodic oil changes, has a simplified electrical system and does not require a separate cooling system.

Weight has been reduced 10 per cent and size 25 per cent from that of the average auto, the company said. The car has 525 foot-pounds of torque.

Wheelbase of the new auto is 110 inches. Its overall length is 201.6 inches, its width is 72 1/2 inches, and its height is 53 inches.

Appleton PD Sign-Making Questioned

Should the Appleton Police Department be in the municipal sign business?

The question was raised at Monday's meeting of the common council's street-sanitation committee.

Street and other types of signs are made and erected by the police department which has a separate sign shop.

However, under city ordinance the erection of municipal signs should be performed by the street department, which is under the jurisdiction of the department of public works.

At one time the street department did have a sign shop but it no longer has one. All of the sign-making facilities are at the police department.

Street marking and curb painting also is done by the police department. These are functions normally performed by the department of public works in most Wisconsin cities.

The committee decided it would be best to change the city ordinances instead of the present departmental set-up. City Atty. Frederick Froehlich was requested to prepare necessary amendments.

So, the police department will continue to have its sign shop.

rol on state trunk highways zoning of inland lakes regulation of subdivisions on lakes and streams, flood plan zoning regulation of industrial waste and of radiation equipment, revision of forest crop laws to include higher payments to localities, permanent operation of the forests and loans to counties to build forest roads.

Ban on Detergents
Also recommended was a bill to ban the sale of "hard detergents in Wisconsin on grounds they are "a serious and increasing threat to water supplies and public health."

A major portion of the message was devoted to state action to relieve unemployment.

He said that last month unemployment checks were drawn by 15 to 42 per cent of the work force in 22 counties. High on the list were Iron County with 42 per cent, Sawyer with 38 per cent, Adams 33 per cent, Pepin Shawano and Taylor 19 per cent, Wausau 21 per cent and Grant 20 per cent.

He proposed taking advantage of two federal programs.

One the area redevelopment program provides up to 65 per cent federal loans to communities for the capital for new industry. He said he has directed the Resource Development Department to assist counties that qualify for such projects.

U. S. Public Works
The second federal program provides for accelerated public works.

Such projects would afford an opportunity to improve forests, streams, wildlife habitats, and municipal water and sewer systems, the governor pointed out.

To that end Reynolds proposed an "accelerated public projects committee of state agency heads to plan for speeding up state projects that could give immediate employment. He asked for a $750,000 appropriation with which to supplement or match local or federal funds for such work.

In the field of planning, Reynolds called for passage of a bill to set up an urban renewal staff in the Resource Development Department.

Since 1959 he said, more than 50 communities have been encouraged to undertake local planning programs with federal assistance grants.

The department also is encouraging formation of planning agencies in southwestern and Central Wisconsin and the lower Rock River Basin.

An urban renewal staff he said would provide technical assistance to localities in preparing their programs and requests for federal urban renewal grants.

"Unless we involve ourselves deeply in this program," Reynolds said, "we will be unable to participate in the nation-wide fight against urban blight and the people of our state will be denied access to their fair share of tax dollars they send to Washington."

Milwaukee Clerk Concerned About Record Errors

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Circuit Court Clerk Francis X. McCormack said Monday that "appalling" errors concerning the processing of criminal court records had been found in the criminal branch of the clerk of courts office.

"This check makes me wonder how many cases we have buried in our files that have never gone to trial," he said. "I also wonder how many arrest orders are still out that should have been withdrawn."

McCormack said the errors involve mainly the failure to withdraw arrest orders from the sheriff's office when the orders have been voided or dismissed by a court.

He said he would seek legal advice on who would be liable if a person was erroneously arrested with an order that should have been withdrawn.

Negroes Clash With Police In Nashville

Students Demand All Public Services be Desegregated Now

BY BOB GILBERT
NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Negro students, demanding desegregation of all public accommodations, clashed with police and rock-throwing whites in a noisy 2-hour demonstration in downtown Nashville Monday night.

A few hours later, police were sent to the home of a Negro leader who said a shotgun blast fired from a car smashed through the window of his home and narrowly missed his wife.

Mayor Beverly Briley continued his efforts to reach a biracial accord and "preserve the peace."

Negro leaders scheduled another meeting for late today to press their demands.

Press Demands
1 Desegregation of all public accommodations such as hotels, motels, restaurants and lunch counters. Some eating places, all downtown theaters, the baseball park and the civic auditorium are integrated.

2 Better employment opportunities for qualified Negroes.

3 Dropping of all charges now pending against students arrested while demonstrating against segregation—dating back to the start of the sit-in movement in 1960.

The shotgun blast ripped through the front window at the home of H. E. Braden, executive vice president of the Nashville Christian Leadership Council. No one was injured.

The downtown demonstration came during the height of the dinner hour and was marked by frequent outbreaks of violence as hundreds of white persons gathered—some of them hecklers others just spectators.

Arrest Five
Police arrested five persons, one of them white. Two others were hospitalized.

Rocks and glass showered the demonstrators as they approached two segregated restaurants, the scene of protests last week.

Several fights broke out as the Negroes marched through the city's financial district to the city jail. At one point the Negroes wheeled in a counter-attack that sent rock-throwing whites scattering.

One of the Negroes in pursuit brandished a knife. Earlier, a white man pulled a knife.

In the confusion, a large plate glass window in a vacant building was smashed and the two forces threw jagged slabs of glass at each other.

Commission Approves Tentative Plans for Apartment Building

$150,000 Structure Would be Built Near Meade, John Streets

Tentative plans for building a modern efficiency apartment and a building variance, which would cost about $150,000 to construct, have 20 single bedroom units, plus appliances, heating and air-conditioning included in the rental cost. The rents would vary from $90 to $120 per month.

The apartment building, which would be located to the rear of the apartment building which would be erected in the vicinity of Meade and John Streets. Representatives of Bockl said they would require a zoning change and a building variance, which the commission indicated it would grant once final building plans are submitted for approval.

"You might say we are creating private urban renewal because we have options on two old pieces of property which will be razed and replaced by the modern apartment building," a spokesman for the developer said. The apartment units would be to serve those people who work in the downtown area.

It was noted that the trend in the Milwaukee region of moving back into the central city from the suburbs is spreading to other parts of the state where there are metropolitan or rapidly growing areas.

A caretaker would be on the premises at all times, the commission was told.

In other action, the commission re-elected Ald. Mrs. Dorothy Stillings (17th) vice chairman.

The commission also appointed City Planner Walter Rasmussen secretary to succeed the director of public works. The latter has automatically served as secretary prior to Appleton establishing a separate planning department.

Mayor Clarence Mitchell is commission chairman.

Scandalous Royal Secret Subject Of Charlie's Probing in Quebec

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

In a small cemetery on St. John Street in old Quebec, there is a large marble cross which rises from the heart of the burial ground. It is inconspicuously and tersely labeled "WOOD." And there the story seems to end, but it doesn't. There is more to it, for it is a marker to a scandalous "secret" which was known and which was the subject of gossip in all of the royal courts of Europe.

I discovered the old marble cross on a visit to Quebec a few years ago, and I prowled up the story. In the press of other duties I determined to tell it later, like now.

"Wood" meant Robert Wood, a man raised as a son of one Robert Wood who was once a servant of William IV of England. But the large cross does not commemorate Robert Wood at all, for this was a fictitious name.

In reality, the cross commemorates the illegitimate son of His Royal Highness, Prince Edward of England, the father of Queen Victoria of England.

Robert Wood's mother was Madame de St. Laurent who has been described as a tall, attractive woman, then 26 or 27 years old.

Prince Edward had been in disgrace with his father, King George III, who had sent him, almost as an exile into Canada in 1791.

King George was filled with wrath over the wildness of the prince, and the exile was thinly disguised. The apparent purpose of sending Edward to Canada was to serve as the commander of the Royal Fusiliers, but it fooled almost nobody.

Refused to Socialize

Nevertheless, Prince Edward lived openly with Madame St. Laurent as though she were his wife. At social affairs where women were not invited, Madame St. Laurent presided as hostess, but she was not willingly admitted to the company of the women of Quebec who refused to socialize with her.

A child—"Robert Wood"—was born to them on August 10, 1792 and he was quickly sent into the guidance of the old family servant who gave the child his own name. A few years later when the prince departed Canada for his home country, the Madame de St. Laurent accompanied him. The child remained in Quebec.

ship, the prince paid a salary to his paramour.

Paramour's Income

To a friend (who recorded the conversation) the prince is quoted as saying this: "... you may well imagine... the... ang it will occasion me to part with her... She is of very good family and has never been an actress, and I am the first and only person who ever lived with her... When she first came to me it was upon 100 pounds a year. That sum was afterwards raised to 400 pounds and finally to 1,000 pounds; but when my debts made it necessary for me to sacrifice a great part of my income, Madame St. Laurent insisted upon again returning to her income of 400 pounds per year."

The child known as Robert Wood remained most of his life in Quebec where he was a modestly prosperous lumber merchant. By the time he died, in 1847, Queen Victoria had already been 10 years on the throne of England.

There is no record that Robert Wood's father or his mother ever communicated with him, nor did his half-sister, the great Queen Victoria. Robert must have carried through his lifetime a great psychological burden, but it was covered by silence and dignity.

And to commemorate this fantastic story, there is the marble cross in the old cemetery with the simple legend, "WOOD."

Only Child Died

But something happened. The year after their arrival in Brussels, the only child of the future King George IV died. It was obvious that there was a danger of the succession failing for lack of an heir. It became the State policy of England that the unmarried royal dukes become married.

Plans were made that the Duke should marry Maria Louise Victoria, widow of the Prince of Leiningen and sister of Prince Leopold who later became King of the Belgians.

The Duke tried manfully to keep the news from his paramour, but one day at breakfast she was reading a newspaper and she almost choked. Later, the Duke described the affair in a letter: "For a short time I entertained serious apprehensions for her safety; and when, upon her recovery I inquired into the occasion of this attack, she pointed to (ing) marriage."

In the weeks left to this devoted pair, the Duke paid personal visits to newspaper editors in Brussels to ask each of them to print no news whatsoever of his betrothal to Maria Louise.

But soon the separation had to come. Madame de St. Laurent retired into a convent. The duke married Maria Louise and the only child of the union was Victoria, born May 24, 1818.

It is strange to reflect that in the many years of their relationship, the Duke tried manfully to keep the news from his paramour, but one day at breakfast she was reading a newspaper and she almost choked.

Young Players Key to Future, Bragan Claims

Spahn to Face Cards' Gibson Stadium Tonight

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Manager Bobby Bragan says the future of his Milwaukee Braves rests with its younger players, inconsistent though they are.

And, with the hope that springs eternal, he is confident the club will start winning ball games.

The Braves, tied with Houston for last place in the National League, have lost nine of their last 10 games and 11 of the last 13.

"The season's young," he said Monday, an open day on Milwaukee's schedule. "We're very fortunate the way we've been playing to find ourselves only five and a half games off the pace."

With not much optimism of getting help in a trade, Bragan said, "The kids will have to do it. We'll have to depend on the likes of Joe Torre, Denis Menke, Denny Lemaster and Dan Schneider if we're going to go anywhere."

Menke and Lemaster, he said, have "made giant strides."

"Lemaster's really come up fast," he added, "so if we're going to do any good, we'll have to do it with the younger players. They've been guilty of a lot of bad baseball but they're bound to improve with experience."

Commenting on trades, Bragan said, "I don't think anything's going to break. It's too early. Everyone's waiting so they can give their kids major league exposure and see what they can do."

"Don't push the panic button yet," he said. "Let's give those young fellows a longer look."

The Braves hope to begin the climb back to respectability tonight against St. Louis at County Stadium, in the opener of a three-game series.

Warren Spahn, now 4-2, will face Bob Gibson of the Cards, who is 1-1. Spahn, who has hurled only six innings since May 3, has a 61-36 record with the Cardinals.

The Braves will play 15 of their next 18 games at home.

Hornung Plans To Appear on WBAY-TV Show

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Packer star Paul Hornung will be in Green Bay next week for the first time since he was suspended from the National Football League for betting.

Hornung, who has been spending much of his time attending banquets, is all set to appear on television in behalf of a celebratory drive (on WBAY-TV) May 25, according to his mother, Mrs. Loretta Hornung.

He could not be reached for comment Monday night.

Maury Wills Shifted To Third by Dodgers

Becomes Sixth Man to Hold Spot This Year

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Dodgers' troublesome third baseman has been placed in the capable hands of the National League's Most Valuable Player—Maury Wills.

Wills, who stole 104 bases last year for a major league record, is the sixth man that Manager Walt Alton has tried at the hot corner this season.

Tommy Davis, Don Zimmer, Daryl Spencer, Ken McMullen and Jim Gilliam all have had a fling at the job.

Davis, the NL batting champion last season, was ticketed as the third base regular, but a sore arm caused him to make many throwing errors, and he was shifted just about at the time when a torn thigh muscle forced him into a hospital.

Severe Wrench
Wills, who suffered a severe ankle wrench in the opening game this year at Chicago, still is a bit hobbled, and going in either direction for a ball isn't going to help the healing process. But at third base he won't have so much ground to cover, and his powerful throwing arm is ideal for the long throw to first.

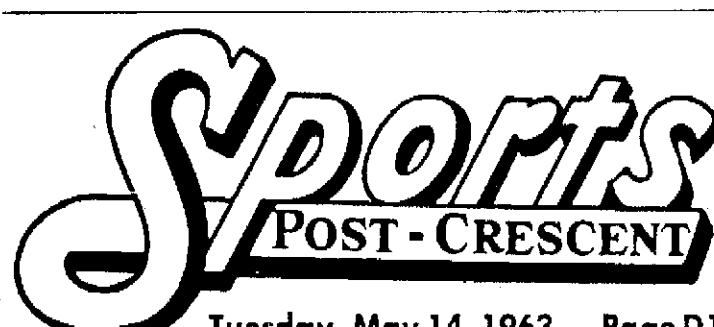

Alton says Wills, who was used at third Sunday as the Dodgers swept their three-game series with the San Francisco Giants, will be back there tonight against Philadelphia. Alton is interested in shoring his defenses—and with good reason. The Dodgers are the worst fielding team in the majors, the statistics disclose.

Catcher Johnny Roseboro predicts that it's going to be tough to drive a ball through the left side of the Dodger infield now with Wills at third and the slick-fielding Dick Tracy at short.

Neenah and AHS Favored in Papermaker Relays Tonight

Kimberly Scores 4-1 Win Over Kaukauna

KIMBERLY—Harold "Whitey" Nienhaus and Jim Vanden Boogaard combined on a 2-hitter as they hurled Kimberly to a 4-1 victory over Kaukauna here Monday afternoon.

Lee Levknecht provided the needed runs for victory in the first inning with a booming home run after two were out. Art Wittman led off the frame with a single but was thrown out stealing and Jim Rennebohm was out trying to stretch a double into a triple.

Tom Bogenschutz followed by drawing a walk and scored on Levknecht's wallop.

Kimberly added two more runs in the fifth on a walk to Rennebohm, a single by Bogenschutz, a double by Nienhaus, and a single by Jim Vanden Heuvel.

Meet for Third Time This Season

Tonight's second annual Papermaker relays in Kimberly looms as another tight battle for supremacy between the Neenah and Appleton High School track teams.

The Terrers won the first meeting, 69-58, when the two schools were part of a triangular. The Rockets won the second clash, 60-57½, in a dual meet. Neither team has been on the losing end of any other outdoor meet.

While Neenah and AHS rank as favorites, the other three entries—Menasha, Kaukauna and host Kimberly—promise to add plenty of competition and color to the big athletic show.

Neenah edged Appleton, 199½-193½, in last year's inaugural running of the relays. Menasha was third (105½), with Kimberly fourth (91½) and Kaukauna fifth (80). The total scores are large compared to other track meets because points are awarded for each place in all three heats of running events.

Field events start at 8 p. m.

Fisher Hurls Foxes Back to .500 Level

Red Sox Score 8-5 Win; Angels Defeat White Sox Again, 7-3

Colts Post Fifth Straight Triumph By Edging Mets

BY JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Editor

So, the Boston Red Sox are in second place in the American League. So, what's so funny about that?

Aren't the Chicago White Sox, like Boston a prime pre-season choice for the second division, running in front? And the Kansas City Athletics, another pick for the loser echelon, a close third?

And aren't New York's mighty Yankees struggling along in fourth with the other contenders stringing along behind?

It's just a crazy, mixed-up race, that's all.

The Red Sox put the slug on the Washington Senators 8-5 Monday night and the Los Angeles Angels whipped the White Sox 7-3 in the only games on the AL schedule.

Angels Sixth

The results eased Boston into the runner-up spot, one game back of Chicago and 10 percentage points ahead of the A's, and put the Angels into a sixth-place tie with Cleveland at the .500 level.

In the only National League game, the Houston Colts climbed out of sole occupancy of the cellar with their fifth straight victory, outslugging the New York Mets 4-2 in a runaway-turned-cliffhanger. Houston now shares ninth place with Milwaukee.

The Red Sox helmed seven extras among their 11 hits, including a three-run homer by Bob Tiltman in the sixth inning that stood up as the clincher. Frank Malzone and Dick Stuart also homered for Boston. Chuck Schilling rapped a pair of doubles, and Carl Yastrzemski and Lu Clinton tripled.

Washington starter Don Rudolph was routed in the first when Schilling doubled, Yastrzemski tripled, Malzone homered and Clinton singled—and the Senators never caught up. Stuart connected off Jim Bronstad in the fourth, and the Red Sox pounded Jim Duckworth for four more runs in the sixth.

Tall Gene Conley was credited with the pitching victory, his second in three decisions, with strong help from Dick Radatz. The fireballing reliever came on in the seventh after Jim King's two-run homer and limited Washington to one hit the rest of the way.

Long-Ball Binge

The Angels also went on a long-ball binge in beating Chicago for the second time in a row, while the White Sox had a frustrating evening on the bases.

Leon Wagner smacked his seventh homer and two singles for Los Angeles. Ed Sadowski homered and singled, George Thomas hit a homer, and Jim Fregosi cracked a triple and two-run double. The Angels went ahead 4-1 with three runs in the fourth, when Fregosi doubled after a single by Wagner and a walk, and Sadowski's single delivered Fregosi. They put it out of reach in the seventh, when Sadowski homered and Wagner singled in a run.

The White Sox blew several chances but the big one was in the second—when they managed just one run on four singles and an Angel error. One runner was nailed attempting to score on a grounder, another was run down between third and home after a missed bunt, and Wagner's perfect throw from left field got J. C. Martin trying to come in from second on a single by losing pitcher Eddie Fisher.

Don Lee, Dean Chance and Julio Navarro pitched three innings each for the Angels with the

FRVL Makes One Change In Schedule

Opening Games Are Slated For Sunday

MORRISON — Team rosters for the first three games and the 1963 league schedule were approved at a meeting of Fox River Valley Baseball League officials and team representatives here Monday night.

After the first three games are played, teams will be allowed to make roster changes.

One change was made in the opening day pairings. The league opens play Sunday with Menasha at Morrison. Fond du Lac at Oshkosh, Kaukauna at Little Chute, Kimberly and Harrison at Freedom. Originally, Harrison was to play at home against Freedom but the site was changed because of conflicts with use of the Freedom field.

Oshkosh is the lone new entry in the league, and Herb Willis will be the team manager.

The league will play a split season again with seven games in each round. The all-star game was set for July 14 at the first-half champion's park.

Frank Chalupa, umpire-in-chief, also was named league treasurer. He replaces Frank Warner who will retain his post as secretary.

A detailed report on league finances was given by Gene Kloes, president. The next meeting will be held June 4 at Fond du Lac.

Decatur Falls; Quincy Plays Here Tonight

BY RALPH MUELLER
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Tom Fisher proved to be the Foxes' first skein stopper of the season here Monday night as he hurled his teammates to a 12-2 thrashing of Decatur at Goodland Field.

The 6-hit, route-going performance by the Cleveland, Ohio right hander ended a 4-game slide by the Foxes and put them back at the .500 level with a 6-6 record.

Fisher's support came mainly

Fisher Embrey

off the booming bats of Bill Grim, Charley Embrey and Charlie Aikens.

The Foxes open a 2-game series with Quincy at 8 p.m. today at Goodland Field. Paul Campbell is the likely starter for the Foxes.

Grim accounted for the tying markers last night and sent the Foxes on their way in the second inning with a long double to right field. The blow plated both Charlie Powell, who had walked, and Bob Lewandowski, who had singled.

Distant Triple

Embrey powered a distant triple with the bases jammed in the fourth inning to highlight a 4-run output that put the Foxes in front to stay.

Manager Billy DeMars' charges added two runs in the fifth and four in the seventh to account for the final score of 12-2. Aikens spanked in the final pair of markers with a triple to right center. The Foxes made good use of every base hit as they totaled nine hits and an even dozen runs. Much less could be said for Decatur as they wasted two hits and a like number of walks in the third without scoring.

Wardle suffered pains both of mind and matter in the third and fourth frames. The Commodore catcher singled but was picked off second base when he "over-ran" second base following a walk to Neal Austinson in the third.

In the next inning, Wardle was forced to leave the game after being hit hard by Ted Richardson in a play at the plate. DeGold Francis was his immediate replacement.

victory going to Chance, now 3-3. Houston right-hander Bob Bruce turned back the Mets on just two hits and struck out 11 through eight innings but lost his shutout and complete game bid with two away in the ninth.

Hit With Pitch
Bruce, whose only other victory this season was a one-hit 2-0 decision over Cincinnati, walked lead-off man Duke Snider in the ninth, got the next two Mets, but then hit pinch hitter Choo Choo Coleman with a pitch and walked Charlie Neal.

After yielding a pinch two-run single to Chris Cannizzaro, Bruce was relieved by Don McMahon, who struck out Cliff Cook.

Roger Craig allowed eight hits and the Mets committed four errors, with misplays by Craig and Tim Harkness leading to two unearned runs. Rookie Rusty Staub singled in two runs in the fifth, making it 3-0, after Houston had filled the bases on Johnny Temple's single, Craig's error and an interference call against Met catcher Norm Sherry.

Says He's Had No Operation

Arnold Palmer Plans To Get Some Rest

LATROBE, Pa. (AP)—Weary, ailing Arnold Palmer, his position as golf's premier performer in serious jeopardy, says a little rest may be all he needs.

"Mainly, I just felt lousy," Palmer recounted of his poor showing at the Colonial Invitation at Fort Worth. "I have been in the habit of taking time off from golf during the fall—from September until late December. But I haven't done this for the last four or five years. I've been too busy."

"The result is I've picked up some bad golfing habits. I'm not hitting the ball well at all. These are some of the bugs in my game I have to get rid of."

The games all-time leading money-winner shot a 299 in the Colonial last weekend, 20 strokes off the winning pace and one of his poorest competitive rounds in years.

Painful Cyst
Though he said nothing about it at the time, it was disclosed that Palmer had a painful cyst on his back during the tourney, which hampered his walking and swinging.

"It's true I have a cyst and it gave me some trouble," he admitted Monday. "I saw a doctor there but there was no operation. I thought about pulling out, but decided against it."

He said he would see his family doctor and abide by his decision. An operation, if necessary, would be a minor one and ap-

Notch Victories as National Industrial League Starts Play

Riverside Paper and Pierce Auto Body notched victories as the National Industrial Softball League opened play at Telulah Park Monday night.

Riverside edged CWA, 8-7 and Pierce trimmed IPC, 13-3. The other game scheduled between the Police Department and the Wisconsin Wire Works was postponed.

Riverside built up an early lead and then had to break a tie in the last of the seventh for the victory. The winning run crossed the plate on a wild pitch.

Ron Bessette powered a home run and a single and scored four times in the lopsided Pierce win over IPC. The game was held to five innings because of a time limit. Pierce scored in every inning except the third.

Fred Stoeger was the winning pitcher for Pierce and Gilbert took the loss.

Canadian Chief Personally to Warn Players Against Betting

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP)—General managers of the nine teams in the Canadian Football League voted Monday to have League Commissioner Sydney Halter personally warn all players against gambling and associating with gamblers.

Halter will visit each team this summer. He will tell the players it would be a disaster for one of them to become involved in a scandal such as the one that rocked the National Football League recently.

At present, each player receives a letter from Halter outlining league restrictions on gambling. The players must acknowledge the letter.

The letter says players may not bet on any game played by a member club, fraternize with known gamblers or fraternize during the season with members of opposing clubs.

The contract signed by each player will be cancelled if he accepts a bribe, agrees to throw a game, fails to report an attempt to bribe or throw a game or is guilty of conduct detrimental to football or the league.

Foxes' Fisher Stops Decatur and his former Foxes' teammate Don Engbers. He also walked Tom Yost, who played for Waterloo last summer, before the first inning was over.

He allowed only four hits in the final eight innings-being in serious trouble in only the third and sixth innings. "Fish" struck out six and walked five in picking up his third win without a loss.

Only one of the two runs off Fisher was earned so his earned run average was shaved to 1.96 in 23 innings of work. He has struck out 18 and scattered 21 hits.

FOX TALES — Bob Lewandowski extended his hitting streak to seven games on a single to center in the fifth. Billy DeMars must have been suffering from arm trouble Monday night as he left the coaching lines for the dugout in the eighth inning after having waved around 12 runners. The dozen markers equalled the output for the past four games. . . . Fans have tabbed Charlie Powell, brother of the Orioles John Powell, with the nickname of "Little Boog." . . . The first player roster changes of the season were made Monday with the arrival of catcher Bill Shirah from Stockton and infielder Jim Vadas from Aberdeen. Third baseman Stan Walters has been sent to Bluefield and catcher Ansel Tyndall has been released. . . . Pitcher Arne Thorsland has been placed on the disabled list and is slated to undergo an operation on his arm.

Physician Restores Boy's Severed Hand

NEW YORK (AP)—Physicians at Brooklyn's Jewish Hospital were given a left-handed compliment Monday.

By waving the little finger of his left hand, Henry Granville, 19, paid a tribute to modern surgery which restored the hand after it had been cut off in an industrial accident 25 days ago.

Dr. Maxwell Felton, 30, staff surgeon at the hospital, rejoined Granville's hand in a five-hour operation.

There have been other cases of successful similar surgery in the past year.

New Pool Permit Hearing Set in Chilton Saturday

Zoning Board of Appeals Again Plans to Consider Application

CHILTON — A second Chilton zoning board of appeals hearing to consider a disputed building permit application submitted by the Chilton Joint School District for a swimming pool addition to the school has been scheduled for 2 p.m. Saturday at city hall, Don Bonk, board chairman, announced.

The first board hearing on the issue, called last Thursday, was adjourned after being in session about one minute when the district withdrew its application for a permit in a surprise move. Technical errors on the original application for a building permit prompted the move, according to school officials. With no application, the appeal action was nullified.

On Friday, however, the district resubmitted an application for a permit for the gymnasium-swimming pool addition. The application, correct in every technical detail, was again denied by City Building Inspector Louis Buelow on grounds that inadequate side-lot at the construction site to comply with the city zoning ordinance.

Denied Permit

This is the same reason given by Buelow when he denied the original permit more than a week ago. The application shows there is only five feet of lot between the east wall of the proposed structure and the west lot line of property owned by Vincent Reinboer and George Fox. Eight feet is the minimum setback for major construction in a Class A residential area, under the city zoning law.

The board of appeals has the power to grant building permits when setbacks or specifications fail to meet zoning requirements. Excavation work on the pool, which was started without a permit, has been held up. The legal obstacles will set construction work back at least two weeks and possibly longer, depending on the board of appeals ruling.

Appleton Youth Airline Presses Bid Who Hit Deputy For 1-Flight Service

Gets Jail Term Incident Blamed For Starting Riot At Teen-Age Bar

CHILTON — The Appleton youth who struck a Calumet County deputy and triggered a riot at a beer bar Sunday night, was sentenced to 60 days in jail and was assessed fines totaling $15 in Calumet County Court Monday.

Waller Skinner, 20, 318 Rankin St., pleaded guilty of resisting arrest and of disorderly conduct. He appeared Monday afternoon before Judge D. H. Seбора, who ordered an additional 50 days in jail if the fines are not paid.

The penalties were $100 and 60 days in jail with an additional 30 days in lieu of fine for resisting arrest and $50 or 20 days for disorderly conduct.

It required 13 policemen to quell the riot. Deputy Raymond Schroeder testified Skinner was told to step off the dance floor at The King, a beer bar at Waverly Corner, by a dance hall inspector. Skinner became abusive to the inspector who then refunded his admission fee and ordered him from the dance.

Struck Deputy

Schroeder said he was leading Skinner and two companions from the establishment when Skinner turned and struck the deputy in the face. It took two men to put him in handcuffs. Schroeder testified. The scuffle is blamed for setting off the fight in the bar and parking lot. Deputy Ray Ecker was struck in the face before police reinforcements arrived to break up the melee.

Sheriff C. J. Kosmosky and every available deputy and traffic patrolman were sent to the scene. Eleven remained on duty until closing time.

Skinner testified he had a record of juvenile delinquency. District Atty. F. J. Schneider informed the court Skinner currently is on probation to the department of public welfare for breaking and entering.

3 Waupaca Accidents Reported

WAUPACA — Damages to a car operated by LeRoy W. Young, 18, route 2, New London, were estimated at $700 after the car left Poppy Rock Road, three miles south of New London about 12:30 a.m. Sunday. He was going north when he lost control on the top of a hill and went into the north ditch where the road curved to the west. The car rolled over and came to rest on its top in a field.

Jerald A. Hudziak, 16, Star Route, Fremont, told county police he fell asleep while driving east on Desert Road, six miles south of Weyauvega, when his car went into the north ditch. A passenger in the car yelled at him and he awoke in time to turn the car back onto the road but the car rolled over and came to rest on its top.

Frank C. Koch, 66, 425 W. Summer St., Appleton, struck and killed a deer about 9:25 p.m. Thursday on U. S. 10, four miles west of Weyauvega. He was driving east when the deer ran into the path of his car.

Waupaca District to Open Bus Bids Tonight

Carroll Peterson New Transportation Supervisor, Replaces Robert Strebe

WAUPACA — Opening bids for three new school buses and lining up summer work projects for maintenance crews will be on the agenda of the board of education at 8 p.m. today at Waupaca High School.

The transportation committee advertised for bids to be opened tonight for one 54-passenger bus and two 60-passenger buses. The committee also agreed to appoint Carroll Peterson to succeed Robert Strebe, bus supervisor, who announced at the last meeting he plans to resign this summer.

Vernon Nelson will be appointed assistant bus supervisor. He also will serve as a driver and do janitorial work at the school.

Changes and additions planned for the summer work project include construction of a storeroom for the school lunch program, lighting for the projection room, fixing an art room for the newly hired art instructor, work on the kitchen at the Sheridan School and work on the heating system for Lind Center School. The basement room at Lind Center School may also be used as a classroom.

Discussions Set

Discussions also are scheduled on an annuity plan and income protection plan for employees. The board will discuss purchasing Lind Center School. The school is in the Waupaca District, but Weyauvega Union High School District has an equity in it.

An enrollment report for kindergarten for next year will be given by William Williams.

Plans for the closing of school also will be announced. Four teachers will be issued contracts for the coming new year.

The soloists were accompanied by either Margo Shaw or Larry Klausch, school vocal director.

North Central Asks CAB to Reconsider Clintonville Order

North Central Airlines is pressing its bid for one-flight-a-day service for the City of Clintonville.

The airline has filed a petition requesting the Civil Aeronautics Board in Washington, D. C., to reconsider its recent decision that the community continue to be served by two flights — one in the morning and the other in the afternoon.

North Central's original petition to provide Clintonville with one daily DC-3 round trip was denied April 29 by the CAB.

Losing Money

The airline claims it is losing money on its Clintonville operations.

Generally, the airline informed the CAB that for the first three-month period of 1963, it incurred a loss of $305,763 after subsidy, as compared with a loss of $15,838 for the comparable period in 1962. This was on its overall operation.

"As a result, North Central must find means to promptly improve its financial condition," Atty. A. L. Wheeler, counsel for the airline, informed the CAB in the appeal.

"In order to live within the class rate structure, North Central must more nearly approximate the average of the industry. To do this, the carrier must increase its average length of hop," the CAB was told.

Denial Result

North Central contends that as a result of the CAB's recent denial for an overflight of Clintonville, the airline will have to operate at a substantial loss there.

If the airline is given an opportunity to serve Clintonville with only one round trip, according to Wheeler, North Central would be able to reduce its breakeven need by at least $8,000 and increase its annual subsidy payment by $24,000.

North Central cited a recent CAB order which granted overflight authority to Lake Central Airlines because of the short hop characteristics that were involved in that particular case.

North Central indicated its problem is similar to that of the other airline and requested the CAB for relief in the form of overflight authority.

Wheeler explained that under the airline's one daily round trip service proposal for Clintonville, 219 S. Main St. He was taken the maximum total of daily passengers that could be inconveniently housed by his co-workers, where increased amounted to only 1.32, and X-rays were taken. The extent of the savings to the North Central would be approximately $8,000.

"North Central requests that the Civil Aeronautics Board reconsider its decision denying North Central the authority to overfly Clintonville, after providing the point with one daily DC-3 round trip," Wheeler said.

Carl Dretzke To Head County Law Committee

WAUPACA — Supv. Carl Dretzke, Manawa, was re-elected chairman of the law enforcement committee of the county board and Supv. Waldemar Johnson, Waupaca, was re-elected secretary during the committee's organizational meeting at the courthouse.

The committee decided to update the signs at the public boat launchings at the Chain O'Lakes. The highway committee was asked to have the new signs list the launching hours and the speed limits on the various lakes.

The county police traffic report, presented by Capt. Royal Myhill, indicated there was one traffic fatality in the county during April. There were 30 accidents filed by county police, including 21 investigated by the county police, four by the sheriff's department, one by the state traffic patrol and four by other departments.

15 Injuries

There were 42 vehicles involved in the accidents with 15 people sustaining injuries. County police also made 23 traffic arrests and gave out 24 warnings and 11 five-day tickets.

They responded to 97 radio calls, 51 telephone calls, eight verbal complaints and escorted 10 funerals.

They handled traffic at five fires and made 17 blood runs for hospitals. They assisted two motorists in trouble on the highway.

County police made nine investigations for the traffic department, 20 for the sheriff's department, transported 12 prisoners and conducted 14 investigations for other departments. The county squad cars travelled 17,796 miles during the month.

Workman Falls From Roof of 2-Story Home

CLINTONVILLE — Lynn Hull, E. First Street, was injured about 4 p.m. Monday when the staging came loose and he fell from the roof of the Paul Kluth residence, 219 S. Main St. He was taken to the Clintonville Community hospital by his co-workers, where X-rays were taken. The extent of his injuries was not immediately known.

Hull, who is employed by the D. F. Mitchell Sheet Metal Co., Clintonville, was working on roofing the two story house when the accident occurred. According to reports, he landed head - first on the ground.

Chilton Board to Enlarge Bus Fleet

President A. W. Gordon Says Increase in Number of Pupils Will Require Another Vehicle

CHILTON — Increasing rural transportation demands anticipated for the 1963-64 school year prompted the board of education Monday night to seek bids on an additional school bus.

Although final tabulations haven't been completed, A. W. Gordon, president of the board, said there will be an estimated 40 additional rural pupils riding buses next year, and almost double the number of kindergarten pupils.

"The situation definitely involves a new bus," Gordon said, and asked that the oldest bus would be retained and not traded in or sold, as has been the policy in past years.

Gordon was authorized to prepare bus specifications, working with the bus fleet operator, L. P. Daun, and mail out specifications to dealers. Bids will be taken at the next meeting.

Sticking to transportation, the board moved to renew its contract with L. P. Daun to operate and maintain the bus fleet on the same basis as last year. The bus fleet was leased to Daun after the district was ordered to discontinue transportation of parochial school children on district owned and operated buses by the state department of public instruction.

Paid on Mileage

Daun is paid on a mileage basis and provides maintenance. The district pays driver salaries and fuel. Daun said he already has entered into separate contracts with congregations for a share of the transportation costs.

Since Daun did not operate the buses during the entire current year on this basis, the board agreed to stand for 50 per cent of an estimated $1,200 in maintenance for the fleet during the coming summer to ready it for the next year. The board set $600 as the maximum it will pay toward the work. The balance is Daun's responsibility.

Progress on the new classroom building addition is proceeding on schedule, according to architect's inspection reports read by Gordon. Two change orders for work in the laundry room totaling $630 were approved.

Building Sold

The Riverview School building has been sold to Charles Hansen for $700, Gordon reported. The best previous bid for the structure, which was vacated after district reorganization, was slightly over $400.

A representative from the board was requested by the Hilbert Board of Education to set a value figure on the Potter School building. It is being used by the Hilbert District as a school but part of the former Potter district was attached to Chilton, hence the Chilton district has a voice in the established value. The move is necessary to complete the division of the district's assets. Board President G. G. Bloomer will conduct the appraisal.

A total of 113 pupils have signed up for summer classes at the school. Registration shows 49 for driver education, 27 for typing and 37 for remedial reading and remedial arithmetic.

Create Problem

The bulging kindergarten enrollment for next year will not create a problem.

Brillion Town Board Names Caretaker for Cemeteries

FOREST JUNCTION — Delton Tamm was named caretaker of Town of Brillion cemeteries by the board of supervisors Friday evening.

The town maintains two burial grounds, both dating back to the origin of the township in the late 1850s. Both are on the east side of the town, one north and the other south of the present City of Brillion.

Eradication of rats at the town dumping ground will be undertaken upon complaint made by Erwin Winkler and Nelson Tamm, nearby property owners.

Distribution of crushed gravel on town roads by town trucks has been started in a project of several weeks which once included the operation of a gravel crusher by the town.

Gravel crushing has been discontinued for several years and surfacing material now is purchased from sand and gravel companies operating in privately owned pits in the township.

A season's contract for delivery of road binder has again been entered into with Kimberly-Clark Co. The first installment has already been distributed.

A representative of Badger Highways visited the session for discussion of continued blacktopping of town roads. Negotiations with landowners for a full four-road width have been completed on a three-mile stretch connecting U. S. 10 and State 57 south of Forest Junction. The widening includes cutting of part of an evergreen wind-break of long standing at the John F. Steinbach farm.

NEW LONDON — Plans are underway for a summer training program for the local Civil Defense unit. The group will be trained to become more familiar with police work and procedure.

George Wochinski, city CD director, said through the cooperation of Police Chief Jack Algiers, members of the unit will be trained in traffic control, patrol car operation and radio procedure.

At present, the unit has had very little experience in traffic control. To better acquaint it with the problems of handling traffic, men will work with police during rush hours on weekends.

The CD unit will also be trained for security and point control patrols.

To efficiently man areas which will require security patrols and manage control points in event of an emergency, Wochinski said at least 50 men would be needed. At present, the unit has 25 active members.

To bolster the unit Wochinski has extended an invitation to anyone interested in CD work to attend the next meeting, June 13 at the high school.

Plan Study of Need for New Bridge Over Little Lake

School Sites In Conflict With Route

MENASHA — Public Works Director Robert Poss this morning said City of Menasha and Town of Menasha officials will take a "hard and fast look" at the site of the proposed Little Lake Butte des Morts bridge.

Poss indicated engineers and officials will study the possibilities and needs for moving the bridge to another location than that originally approved by the city in its request to the state and also planned by Schellie Associates in the Fox River regional plan.

Reason for the "hard and fast look" is because the thoroughfare from the bridge will pass through or adjacent to Calder Field and two proposed school sites.

Construction

City officials also indicated the area near Ninth Street in Menasha where the bridge is to be built under original plans has undergone a period of home construction, leaving the city with a rising projected cost in buying up of homes for construction of the bridge and thoroughfare.

The original plans call for construction of the bridge at the end of Ninth Street. A thoroughfare would run for a short distance down Ninth Street and then turn sharply north where it would intercept a second thoroughfare just north of County Trunk AP, according to Schellie plans.

The possibility of moving the construction site 1,000 feet north of the new proposed area so as to move it away from the vicinity of Calder Field and the school sites will be considered.

Town Board officials will review the bridge site tonight at the regular meeting.

Poss indicated that actually moving the site and any other changes are only possibilities and that officials are simply seeing if they are needed.

Involved are the school sites mentioned and the interchange on the west side of the lake, Poss indicated.

The study was brought about last week in a meeting of city and town officials, engineers, Winnebago and Outagamie County Highway commissioners.

Service Law Given Backing

Appleton Unit Favors Bill for Common Facilities

Solid support was given the proposed multi-service district legislation pending in the state senate by the Appleton Plan Commission Monday.

Gordon Bubolz appeared before the group at city hall and emphasized the bill would streamline the mechanics of government while not taking away "home rule" from communities.

Under the proposed legislation, municipalities could band together and create districts to maintain and operate public facilities. This could only take place after the governing body favors it, and the people in each of the communities to be involved signify their approval through a referendum vote.

Keeps Home Rule

Bubolz said such legislation would be a boost to regional planning. "It would in no way invade the home rule jurisdiction of any municipality," he said. He envisioned adequate facilities being provided at a lower cost to the taxpayer through a joint district arrangement.

The plan commission went on record favoring the legislation and recommended that the Appleton Common Council also support it. City Planner Walter Rasmussen was authorized to attend the senate hearing and voice the support of the city plan commission.

In another matter, Bubolz pointed out that a bill in the assembly which would put the department of resource development under the state conservation department. Bubolz warned "this would be a grave mistake, especially now with all the work needed to be done in the field of planning."

The plan commission took a stand against the bill and Rasmussen was instructed to register the group's opposition.

To Your Good Health

Common Causes for After-School Headache

BY JOSEPH C. MOLNER, M.D. (last?) If she skimps on breakfast. Dear Dr. Molner, My daughter, fast and then has one of these 16, can't take vitamin pills. She comes home from school with a terrible headache that extends into the neck. I've tried different brands and she gets similar reactions from all of them. What's your opinion? — Mrs. J. B.

Dr. Molner: I don't see why you jump to the conclusion that vitamin pills are to blame, but you can test that theory yourself. Just stop giving them. If the headaches continue, as I dare say they will, you'll know you have to look elsewhere for the trouble. (Be sure the girl has a well-balanced diet, and she'll get all the vitamins she needs.)

Then explore a number of the commoner causes for youngsters having these after-school headaches: 1 — Have her eyes been checked? It may be that she can't see well enough, and the tension from trying brings the headache. 2 — Is she under some other form of emotional tension? Disturbed over something at school? Are conditions peaceful at home, or is there frequent conflict that makes her dread being there?

Poor Posture? 3 — What about her posture? If it is poor, it may be putting undue strain on muscles and nerves of the neck. This is not to be overlooked in such headaches, especially when the ache extends into the neck. 4 — Does she eat an adequate lunch? (And a substantial break-

The hungry headache occurs, physiologically, when the blood sugar level falls too low. In such cases, adequate breakfasts and lunches are the answer. Vitamins don't cause headaches. Vitamins are the natural content of proper foods in the diet, and the pills are only a mixture of these same materials. Dear Dr. Molner: My wife has gastritis. Is there a cure for it? — D.H.

Gastritis is inflammation of the stomach and a cure depends on the cause. Most gastritis is temporary. It is caused by spoiled food or something toxic or irritating, such as a highly-spiced diet or alcohol. If the trouble continues the most frequent cause is irritation from alcohol. Moderation in eating helps, along with a bland, non-irritating diet. Some medicines can cause stomach irritation. Aspirin and certain antibiotics, for instance, are better tolerated if taken with food or a glass of milk.

Two Plead Guilty In Outagamie Court, Pay Fines

Two Fox Cities motorists pleaded guilty in Outagamie County Court, Branch 2, to charges of drunken driving.

Daniel Drath, 26, 306 W. Cameron St., New London, this morning changed his plea to guilty and was fined $200 and costs, and his license was revoked for one year.

He was arrested Oct. 21 in Hortonville by Hortonville Chief Douglas Jones. He pleaded innocent and posted bond Oct. 22.

Jones arrested Drath after Drath was seen driving erratically. He was taken to the county courthouse, where he was examined by a doctor. He was unable to blow up a balloon for a drunkometer test.

Guyette was arrested by state police one-half mile west of Little Chute on County Trunk 00. He was taken to the Outagamie County jail where he was examined by a doctor. Police said he too was unable to blow up a balloon for a drunkometer test.

Police stopped Guyette Sunday about 6:10 p.m. when he was spotted driving erratically.

Mongrel Dog Caught After Police Chase

NEW YORK (AP)—A mongrel dog brought out the police in force Monday.

Nine police cars carrying 20 policemen finally ran him to ground after a roaring two-mile chase through Greenwich Village and Chelsea.

Two policemen who cornered the dog against a wall said he tried to attack them and they fired three shots. One bullet hit the dog's right foreleg and caused him to topple into a building excavation. A net was then thrown over him and he was taken for tests to determine whether he has rabies.

The dog had bitten a policeman and a boy.

Tom Rohm over Wayne Bass 8-6, 6-4, John Larson over Gajewski 4-6, 7-5, 6-2 and Neinke - Rohm over Conway - Bass 8-6, 6-2.

Lake Michigan Water Makes Sense

An adequate, quality water supply is one of the most valuable assets a community can have.

Members of the board of public works undoubtedly had this in mind when they took the big step and recommended to the Appleton Common Council that the city go to Lake Michigan for its future water supply.

The program recommended by the Appleton Water Commission during informal "briefing" sessions with aldermen and other city officials makes sense. It should also come as good news to the residents of Appleton who have not been too happy in recent years with the water they have been drinking.

It is fortunate that here in the Fox River Valley communities have Lake Michigan within reaching distance for developing their long-range water supplies. In some parts of the country, cities are much less fortunate.

The Governor and Mr. Rahr

It was probably too much to expect that Gov. Reynolds, deep-dyed Democratic politician that he is, would invite Guido Rahr of Manitowoc, the current chairman and probably most distinguished member of the conservation commission in recent times, to remain in that office for another term.

For Mr. Rahr is a man of Republican persuasion, on the record. His previous appointments were by Republican governors. It is fair to note that those predecessor Republicans in the executive office were sparing in their selection of Democrats, even as Mr. Reynolds is apparently indisposed to choose Republicans for such state government offices to which he can nominate.

But there is a revelatory contrast in Mr. Reynolds' selection of Mr. Harvey Kitzman to replace Mr. Rahr. The governor's office press release carefully noted that Mr. Kitzman has been a hunter and fisherman all of his life. We suppose that if this is the prerequisite for appointment, half a million Wisconsin residents could qualify.

Mr. Kitzman's real credentials have very little to do with his leisure-time avocation. He is the top ranking officer in Wisconsin of the UAW-CIO. He is in these

With Lake Michigan practically at its doorstep, the City of Appleton can't go wrong in arriving at the decision to tap the big lake for its future water supply. Construction of the 45-mile pipeline and other facilities has been estimated to cost $8.2 million.

Undertaking such a major project would mean an increase in local water rates of 60 percent, which is the equivalent of $1 per month more on the water bill for the average residential user. Industrial water rates would be increased at a comparable rate.

This seems to us to be a fair price to pay for an improved water supply — both in taste and quantity.

The cost of the Lake Michigan project would be covered by the floating of an $8.2 million revenue bond issue, which would have no effect on the city's bonded indebtedness limit or tax rate. The bonds would be paid off through revenue derived from water sales by the municipal utility.

parts the trusted lieutenant of Mr. Walter Reuther, one of the powerful men in the Democratic party of the nation. He is in his own right an officer of the Democratic party organization.

Mr. Kitzman's entire public stature and identity in this state are derived from his activities in organized labor and in Democratic party organization. Mr. Rahr, in contrast, has a record of long and dedicated service to outdoors resources conservation work as a public official and, even more concretely, as a private citizen who has supported out of his own funds educational and research enterprises by the score.

These distinctions were largely academic, because as we read the temper of the Republican state senate, there is not even a remote chance that Mr. Kitzman's nomination by the governor will be confirmed and so there is little likelihood that he will take the seat to which the governor has named him. There will be many persons interested in conservation administration and policymaking in Wisconsin, nevertheless, who will regret this public repudiation of Mr. Rahr after two decades of faithful and unpaid public service.

Italian Communist Victory

The ideological split between the Soviet Union and Red China has had repercussions in Italy which were duly noted at the last elections. The Italian Communist Party gained at the ballot boxes and the Russian interpretation of Marxism paid off at least temporarily. There may even be hope in the victory in the long run for more tolerant forms of government as well.

Basic to the dispute has been the interpretation of how communism is to spread itself over the world. The Red Chinese continue to insist that Lenin's dogma backs only revolution and violence. To this end, therefore, it is wrong to help any other philosophies. Communists should work to make things worse for everyone who are ruled by other regimes so that misery will contribute to the eventual revolution. There must be no cooperation with socialists or other left-wing groups to make things better for the workers and masses or the masses might not revolt.

But the Russian position today is different from this and different from the old Bolshevik position. Khrushchev, with his idea of peaceful coexistence, has acknowledged that the threat of nuclear war has changed things. The end is the same — or at least the end is said by Khrushchev to be the same — but there is an evolutionary rather than a revolutionary spirit which is heresy to the Chinese.

In Italy, the Communist Party made it clear in 1960 and again in 1962 through speeches by Longo and Togliatti that they were going to run their own show. According to Edward Crankshaw in the Atlantic, "the Italian Communist leaders said in effect that the Italian Communists were not interested in theories or dogma but only in achieving a better life for the masses; they did not care how this was achieved, or whom they had to work with; they looked forward, moreover, not to the victory of Communism as such but to the creation, with the help of all men of goodwill, of a new international order, no matter what it is called."

The Chinese practically tried to run the Italians out of the party for this heresy but its point of view was obviously shared by Red leaders in France as well as in some of the Russian satellite countries. The Italian Communists, seeking votes in the last election, have even backed the Common Market and Khrushchev has not yet denounced them for it. In fact the Soviet Union has not yet had any serious things to say about the Common Market itself.

This spirit of cooperation obviously does not mean an automatic assimilation of various Communist parties into socialism or democracy or an abandonment of the drive for a world dictatorship of the proletariat. In part it is a hard-headed realization that many countries are not going to rise up in revolt because living conditions are getting better without communism. To survive at all as more than a noisy group of psychological outcasts, as the Communist Party exists in the United States, the Communists in Italy have chosen to cooperate. Their victory is not likely to make them change their minds as to their policy.

But neither should we insist that this cooperation is only a false-front, a phase and that communism can never change. Communism is already many things to many people including a lot of the Communist leaders. The same sort of split took place early in the century when many Marxists gradually turned to socialists and others, particularly in Russia, developed the Bolshevik revolutionary aspects of the movement.

History repeats itself upon occasion but it seldom stands still. Communism today, in both its most apparent forms, has come a long way from Karl Marx and the further it can get from Lenin the better for those of us in the free world.

'Jayhawking' Trip Described

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Motor for May 21, 1863.

(The following is an excerpt from the letter of a former Appleton resident, J. W., to Editor E. D. Ross of the Appleton Motor.)

Mission Creek, Kansas — May 13th, 1863 — Friend Ross — Some 10 days ago I was stopping at Topeka, and began a short letter to you. Since then I have been on a "Jayhawking" expedition, an account of which may be somewhat interesting.

On Sunday evening, May 3rd, the news came into Topeka that 50 to 75 "bushwhackers" had passed through Wilmington, on the Santa Fe road. They were divided into companies of 10 or 12 men each, well armed and mounted on the best horses under Dick Yeager and Bill Anderson, both men noted for their crimes.

They boasted of belonging to Quantrell's Band, and that their object was to murder, rob and pillage. We saw the necessity of immediate action. No soldiers were there that could be ordered out, so U.S. Marshall McDowell immediately called out a company of volunteers. We were all mounted and armed with revolvers and guns.

At 11 1/2 o'clock we started out. The night was very dark and rainy, but our overcoats kept us dry. Our guides knew the roads and the hope of catching the outlaws kept us in good spirits.

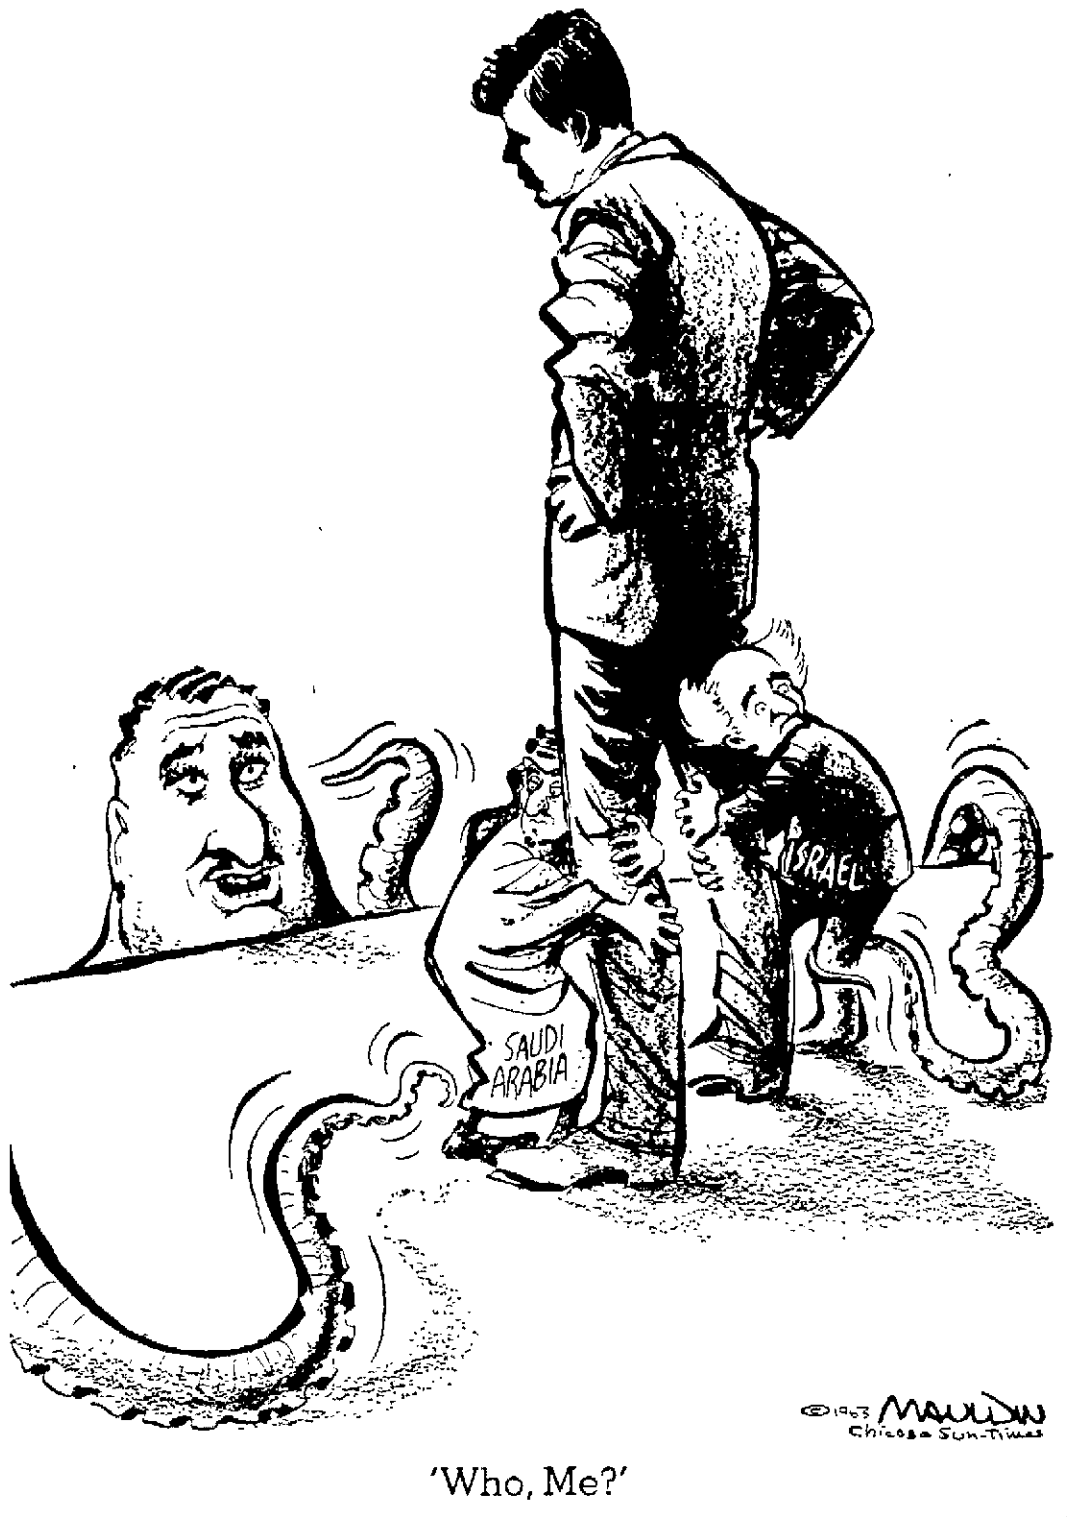

About 6 a.m. we stopped at Burlingame for breakfast. After this we had no trouble following them and before sunset reached Council Grove, the last stop on the Santa Fe, having rode 75 miles in 19 consecutive hours. One of them had been caught there and was shot trying to escape on the way to Fort Riley.

In the morning, we started again and soon found positive evidence of their presence. We found a Mr. Howell of Diamond Spring killed and robbed of a splendid horse and cash and his wife shot in the wrist.

At Cottonwood Creek, 50 miles from Council Grove, we surprised a party of them with their wagons, just starting from their dinner camp. We took them all prisoner without firing a shot. There were two wagons loaded with arms, ammunition, provisions and whiskey.

We camped for the night and made preparations to resist an attack if made in the night. We were safe, however, for outlaw Bill Anderson and two others

People's Forum

Assemblyman Explains Why He Opposes Wolf River Dams

Editor, Post-Crescent:

I feel that it is advisable for me to explain my stand on the two bills in the present Legislature which would prevent the erection of dams on the Wolf River.

Bill 442, A, applies only to dams in Langlade County while Bill 361, S, includes all of the Wolf River from the south line of Shawano County northward. This latter bill also specifically sets aside any authorization in Langlade County may have for constructing a dam on the Wolf River in their county.

I have made every possible effort to learn about this problem from both sides and have come to the conclusion that the construction of any dams on the Wolf River would have serious effects on fishery as well as recreational enjoyment as we now know it. A dam such as one located near Pearson would create a shallow body of water of tremendous evaporation potential besides the fact that it seems obvious the water would be warmed up considerably. This warming effect would hurt the trout fishing potential for almost 25 miles below Pearson through a large part of the former Menominee Indian Reservation and I notice that Menominee County is opposed to such a dam. Also, there is a good chance that the use of these rode upon our pickets, looking for their wagons, and found we were a little too strong for them, so, as the rebels say, they retired.

Sixteen of us started back to the Grove with our prisoners and the rest of the 40 in our party continued in pursuit of the other marauders but lost them on the plains. There were 12 we had taken. We left them at Council Grove to be taken to Fort Riley, and got back to Topeka Friday night.

Crops here are looking fine. Your former townsman, D. M. Johnston, has a piece of wheat which stands from 2 to 3 feet high. A large number of farmers here are trying to raise cotton with a fair prospect of success.

Dr. S. E. Reach, formerly of Appleton, has accepted the appointment of Assistant Surgeon of the 8th Kansas Regiment and starts tomorrow for Nashville, Tenn. — J. W.

25 YEARS AGO

Tuesday, May 10, 1838.

Eighteen Appleton High School seniors were initiated into the National Honor Society at a program and tea at the school. The students included Helen Lewis, James Bailey, Ivis Boyer, Kay Rogers, Anne Holiz, Harwood Orblison, Ellen Marty, Jane Taggart, Anthony Koehne, Fern Bauer, Clifford Dorman, Lois Boon, Dexter Wolfe, Dorothy Frank, John Kiloreen, Lucille Heinritz, Elmer Laedte and Janet Fullinwider.

Appleton High School Band members who won special recognition at the music festival in New London were to be featured in the band concert at Lawrence Memorial Chapel that night. Caroline Stroetz and Gloria Hauser were to present a clarinet duet. Albert Wickesberg, Jr., a flute solo and Robert Sager, Robert Wilch and waters for canoeing and other forms of recreation would be affected by low water during summer drought periods.

Dams on any part of the Wolf River could seriously affect the migration of fish as well as the use of the waterway for recreational boating. I think that any thought of building such dams on the mainstem of the river calls for careful consideration and the recommendations of the Conservation Department's biologist should be given priority. Under any conditions, we should not take a chance of destroying recreational potential and fishery opportunities of the Wolf River which is one of the most valuable waterways and a rich heritage that belongs to all citizens of the state and nation.

WILLIAM ROGERS
Member of the Assembly

Alfonsi Criticized for Stand on Dam Bills

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Open Letter To Assemblyman Alfonsi:

Your comments on the Wolf River dam bills in themselves show the weakness of your position. Why would there be rumors of reimbursing Langlade County $25,000 or $30,000, when the chairman of the Langlade County Board stated in open hearing recently that they had only expended "about $5,000"?

You further stated, "it is a very bad and dangerous precedent to allow the people to come to the Legislature to seek relief." Have you never heard of the First Amendment to the Constitution which guarantees a right of the people "to petition the Government for a redress of grievances?" And you forgotten the Constitutional right, or do you take your obligations as the people's elected representative lightly?

You say we, "the opponents of the dam, had their day in Court and lost" — inferring that the Court passed on the merits of the proposed dam, which it did not! The Court only passed upon the right of the Public Safety Commission to grant the permit. The present opponents of the dam did not have their day in Court. In fact, many downstream landowners did not even receive the registered mail written notices of hearing required under Wisconsin Statute 31.06 (2).

Do you think your position in favor of the dam is giving due consideration to the property rights of the many downstream landowners and to the great recreational and welfare interests of the general public? No, you would force transfer of the property rights of the majority over to a selfish few in direct contradiction to the 14th Amendment of the U.S. Constitution which forbids taking of property without due process of law. You also seem to overlook Article IX of the Wisconsin Constitution which calls all navigable streams "common highways and forever free." Before you allow infringement of such rights, should not the general public interest be considered — especially when the people have petitioned and appeared in public hearing to express their wishes to their elected representatives?

Are you afraid to have democracy practiced? The majority of the people have expressed their interest and views by democratic procedures. The Wolf River belongs to them, to the citizens of Wisconsin and the United States. They and I suggest you turn your efforts toward preserving people's rights and support the bills which would prohibit any dams across the Wolf River.

Hesser summoned porters, who informed him the drain had a trap to intercept items such as rings, watches and teeth. After a brief struggle the trap was opened and the denture recovered. "There's them teeth," the porter told Hesser. "All they need is a little cleaning up. Breakfast's at 6:30 in the morning."

Issue of Higher Pay For State Legislature Raised at Poor Time

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON—A new controversy is building on the issue of pay of state legislators, and there is scarcely any other of the lesser issues of capitol politics that generates more heat with as little understanding.

The issue has been thrust into the current legislative debate in an unfortunate way. The pending proposal for a generous increase in legislative salaries and emoluments did not come from either of the political party caucuses, or from the leadership of either party, but from a couple of members of one of the lesser state senate committees.

Showing a positive genius for poor timing, the Senate Committee on Governmental Affairs burst forth with the legislative pay raise issue at a time when there is yet no assurance of the financing of any other budget increases in the state government, or any real sign of a settlement of the treasury deficit argument that may involve a tax increase for the general public of one hundred million dollars yearly.

It is a fair guess that the legislative pay bill will be kept under wraps by the legislative leaders, until a way out of the tax-finance crisis is found.

At the moment, no honest account of the legislative situation can offer much solid hope for a settlement of that stalemate soon. It may take months, and thus this minor and subsidiary issue may very well be shunted into the political closet altogether.

Yet the issue has been raised by the recent publicity from the O'Brien committee. What of the merits of the legislative pay argument?

Present law provides a salary of $300 a month, throughout the term, of assemblymen and senators, or $3,600 a year, without regard to whether they are actually in session. Session work is stretching out into longer periods in each succeeding legislature, but even today the time spent in Madison out of a legislator's term probably amounts to no more than one third of the whole. There is also an expense allowance of up to $175 a month and a majority of the members take the maximum payment without bothering to itemize their actual subsistence disbursements — which is entirely legal under the rules.

The pending proposal would raise the annual pay to $6,000, and also raise the expense allowances.

ONE VIEW

What is fair pay for legislative service? This reporter's conclusion, based on a quarter of century of observing the argument, is that the state has equivocated in policy here. Successive legislatures have been unable to decide whether the pay should be nominal, for honorary service, or competitive with other professional occupations.

The pay is adequate, or even generous, for the bench warmers, those who spend in Madison only those limited hours literally required for the relatively brief sessions of the houses and the sittings of their special committees. It is inadequate and involves financial hardships for many of the more productive and creative members, the leadership cadre in each party which devotes many additional hours to legislative duty that are not always visible to their constituents or the professional critics of legislative life.

For most of its early history, Wisconsin paid legislators a tiny stipend. The idea was that the community should recruit its responsible men for such service, without regard to the monetary rewards. There is a good case that can be made for the idea that legislators, man for man, were of higher quality in earlier times. Yet that system is vulnerable under the democratic ideal. Without reasonable compensation, many men are barred from legislative service. In the end, a fair-minded man is inclined to conclude that higher pay for legislators can be defended in a time of generous budgeting for all other sections of the huge modern governmental establishment.

Strictly Personal

Why Isn't 'You Was' Proper Grammar?

BY SIDNEY J. HARRIS

A young woman of my acquaintance who is learning English during her first year in this country asked me the other day, "If 'was' is a singular verb, and 'were' is a plural verb, why do we say 'you were' when talking about only one person? Shouldn't it be 'you was'?"

This is one of the troubles in learning so flexible, so sprawling and so illogical a language as English. "You was" is today considered the depth of ignorance and illiteracy, an outrageous breach of grammar. And it would surprise most people to learn it was not always so.

"You were" is a matter of custom, not of grammar at all. The locution "you was" may be found in many of the best 18th century writers. Fielding's classic "Tom Jones" has all its characters — lords, lawyers, preachers and teachers — saying "you was." None of them ever says "you were."

Cowper, 1785, begins one of his letters, "I am exceedingly obliged to you for the letter with which you was so kind to favor me." And Byron, as late as the composition of "Don Juan," used the line: "You was not last year at the fair of Lugo."

Most of the "purest" writers of the 18th Century followed this practice — Addison, Pope, Swift and Horace Walpole. What happened, however, was that in subsequent editions the editors altered "you was" to "you were" in order to conform to modern usage. All editions of "Tom Jones" published in the last century made these changes.

When the pronoun "thou" began to be abandoned in favor of "you," the word "you" was considered as singular where only one person was concerned (following "thou wast"). "Was you" referred to one person; "were you" to two or more.

Before the 17th Century, "thou" was the singular pronoun, and "you" was the plural only. When the former was dropped, "you" came to have too much work to do, and thus was weakened by overwork. The Southern expression "you - all" sounds ridiculous and affected in the North, but it is psychologically understandable as a means of distinguishing between the singular and the plural "you."

If English grammar were logical, for instance, singular verbs would not end in "s" ("he looks"), while the plural would not be without the "s" ("they look"). Language will never be amenable to logic because, as someone has said, people began talking before they began thinking.

Cuts Fuel Usage

USAF, Navy to Watch 'Breathing Wing' Tests

BY RALPH DIGHTON
EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—Both the Air Force and the Navy will be watching closely when an experimental plane with a "breathing wing" begins flight tests here late this month.

The Air Force is interested because it footed the $30-million bill for the radical X21, designed to show how planes can fly 50 per cent farther on a given amount of fuel.

The Navy has a secret interest in applying the same principle to underwater vehicles, increasing their range and perhaps their speed.

The Navy won't admit it has an interest in the X21, but informed sources say experiments are under way with this method of reducing the turbulence that builds up around bodies moving in either air or water.

Moving Objects
Turbulence drags at moving objects. The faster the object moves, the more turbulence.

A design that reduces turbulence will enable an air or water vehicle (1) to go farther on a given load of fuel, (2) carry a heavier payload the same distance, or (3) use a smaller, cheaper engine.

Northrop Corp.'s Norair Division, the only U.S. firm conducting a major research program in this field, has been experimenting with turbulence controls since 1949. The result is the X21, with a slot-flow for radar detection.

ted wing full of tubes and channels that suck away the turbulence as it forms in an extremely thin boundary layer next to the surface of the moving body. At the leading edge the layer is only a few thousandths of an inch.

Tiny Tornadoes
Then, as the molecules of air or water sweep past the vehicle, they are kicked outward by miniature whirlpools. Tornadoes drag at the moving object.

Northrop's answer was to cut hairline slots the length of the X21's wing. Compressors carried in a pod under each wing create a suction through tubes connected to the slots. The tiny tornadoes are drawn from the surface of the wings and expelled to the rear of the plane.

This system, Northrop says, eliminates about 40 per cent of the total drag on an airplane.

"Boundary layer control is primarily for long-range planes," says a company spokesman. "It is not intended for fighters because of the extra weight of the compressors and ducting."

Obvious applications include the top-secret Dromedary project, a proposed aircraft that could stay aloft several days on constant alert or fly long distances to launch missiles from altitudes too high for radar detection.

Information Booths Replace Advertisements in Red Cities

MOSCOW (AP)—All Soviet cities are sprinkled with information booths where you can get a telephone number or the sailing dates of Black Sea passenger ships.

You pay for such information. The most expensive item is an address, which costs five kopeks (about five cents). Other bits of information cost two kopeks.

Moscow has 220 information booths or kiosks. They stand on sidewalks at busy intersections, and near such places as railway terminals. Women who work in the kiosks receive 50-60 rubles (officially $55-66) a month. This is about average for Soviet women. Some are pretty, and some are not. All are supposed to be courteous, a trait which many find difficult to practice, especially when they are asked questions.

Self-Control
Mikhail Lavochkin, head of the Moscow Information System, admits courtesy is a problem, but stoutly defends his women. "Courtesy," he said, "is very important. Unfortunately there are times when the public is rude to our girls, and as a result the girls are not overly self-controlled."

Lavochkin began an interview by asserting that Lenin gets the credit for the information booth system.

"In 1918," Lavochkin said, "Lenin signed a decree which gives working people the opportunity of getting different types of information without wasting time."

30,000 Questions
The booths were set up in Moscow in 1924. Lavochkin says the Moscow booths answer about 30,000 questions daily.

Requests for addresses — both private and public — are the most numerous.

Other types of information available: telephone numbers, bus train and plane schedules, theater and movie listings.

"We will even tell people where they can get a fur coat cleaned," Lavochkin said proudly. "And we are about to introduce a new shopping information service."

No Ads
Such a system would be useful almost anywhere. In the Soviet Union it is necessary. Newspapers carry almost no advertising, and there is no advertising on radio or television.

Also, Moscow telephone books are rare. The last telephone book, issued three years ago, was sold out in a matter of minutes.
